EXPLANATORY NOTE

Parenting is not an easy task. It entails dedication, sacrifice and commitment. This responsibility becomes much more difficult and challenging when it is shouldered alone by a person who become such either by choice or by circumstances that are beyond control.

According to the latest government statistics, solo parents now constitute around 15% of the population or equivalent to 14 million Filipinos. This staggering number of Filipinos bearing the burden of raising their own children by themselves have to work twice harder in order to support and sustain the needs of their children.

The continued increase in the number of solo parents has led to the passage of RA 8972 or the Solo Parents Welfare Act of 2000. The law provided non-monetary benefits that give some respite to the solo parents' predicament of playing multiple roles all at once just to ensure that their children grow up to become responsible and productive citizens someday. However, additional benefits are still needed to help solo parents in their struggle for better life. They are likewise entitled to discounts given to other marginalized sectors like the seniors and the PWDs.

This bill thus aims to strengthen Republic Act 8972 by granting additional benefits to qualified solo parents which will include discounts, housing, comprehensive package of social benefits, flexible work schedule, parental leave, educational benefits, scholarships and reducing the waiting period from one (1) year to six (6) months for which a person can be qualified as a solo parent. Penalties are imposed to ensure its effective implementation.

In view of the foregoing, approval of this bill is earnestly sought.
