EXPLANATORY NOTE

In due recognition of the responsibilities that barangay health workers perform in rendering basic health services to the residents of the smallest political units in the country, the barangays, Republic Act to. 7883, otherwise known as the Barangay Health Workers' Benefits and Incentives Act of 1995 explicitly provides certain privileges and benefits to barangay health workers.

However, the amount of incentives and benefits in the form of hazard allowance and subsistence allowance is not fixed by law but to be determined by the local health board and the local peace and order council of the local government unit concerned. In other words, their monetary benefits are left at the mercy of these bodies depending on the availability of local funds. This is notwithstanding the fact that they also act as front liners like barangay officials in the delivery of essential services to barangay constituents.

This bill therefore seeks to grant a monthly honorarium in the amount of not less than Five Hundred Pesos (P500.00) to accredited barangay health workers in addition to the monetary and non-monetary benefits and incentives they are receiving under the existing law. This additional monetary benefit will certainly be of great help to tether strengthen and systematize their services to their beloved community.

In view of the foregoing reasons, the approval of this bill is earnestly sought.
