HOUSE BILL No. 813

EXPLANATORY NOTE

It is every one's right to have direct access to free and quality education as mandated by the Constitution, most especially the poor and the underprivileged. Not only does providing quality education a matter much to be heeded upon by the State, it also mirrors the problem of providing sustainability and productivity to one's economic life vis-a-vis the government's as well. At most, all levels of education must be granted to a qualified beneficiary – a high school graduate belonging to a family living below the poverty line as determined by the National Economic and Development Authority (NEDA), or living within a budget of roughly Php6,870 for a family of six. The beneficiary would have the right to choose the public or state college or university of his choice within the city, province or region, as the case maybe, for purposes of enjoying the free college education benefit. In the same vein, the college authorities are obligated, under pain of administrative sanctions, to admit the qualified beneficiary.

Given the present business practice that places a premium on formal post-secondary education or college training, and given the sheer number of graduates of our public school system, this proposed legislation is a first concrete step towards providing the deserving graduates of our public high schools with appropriate quality college education keyed to the demands of a highly competitive market place.

The bill was filed in the 15th Congress but for lack of time, its progress was halted at the committee level. In light of all these circumstances, the swift passage of this bill is earnestly sought.
