Republic of the Philippines

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Quezon City

EIGHTEENTH (18th) CONGRESS
First Regular Session

HOUSE BILL NO. 0161

Introduced by REP. JOSE CHRISTOPHER Y. BELMONTE

EXPLANATORY NOTE

House Bill No. 9199 entitled “An Act Defining the Rights and Fundamental Freedoms of Human Rights Defenders, Declaring State Responsibilities, and Instituting Effective Mechanisms for the Protection and Promotion” was passed by the 17th Congress on 3rd Reading and was transmitted to the Senate for appropriate action. The bill is a consolidation of House Bill No. 1617 filed by Rep. Carlos Isagani Zarate and House Bill No. 8182 filed by Rep. Edcel Lagman.

This bill was passed cognizant of Section 11, Article II of the 1987 Constitution which provides that, “The State values the dignity of every human person and guarantees full respect for human rights.” Further, the Commission of Human Rights is created under Section 17, Article XIII mandated to (1) investigate, on its own or on complaint by any party, all forms of human rights violations involving civil and political rights, (2) provide appropriate legal measures for the protection of human rights of all persons within the Philippines, as well as Filipinos residing abroad, and provide for preventive measures and legal aid services to the underprivileged whose human rights have been violated or need protection, and (3) grant immunity from prosecution to any person whose testimony or whose possession of documents or other evidence is necessary or convenient to determine the truth in any investigation conducted by it or under its authority.

With the issue of “national security” stirring interstate and intrastate tensions in different countries and regions, several accounts of extrajudicial killings, threats and intimidation, arbitrary arrest, and detention of human rights defenders (HRDs) in the Philippines. On top of this, HRDs have also been subjected to surveillance by law enforcement personnel. The United Nations Special Representative of the Secretary

2 Ibid.
General has further observed that the laws related to national security have been used to persecute HRDs and hinder them from pursuing their work promoting and protecting human rights. The alarming number of cases of harassment by executive and judicial agents is a problem that is further weighed by the suppression of their right freedom of expression, their right to peacefully assemble, and their right to freedom of association.

In response to this contravention of various international human rights standards, this bill aims to spell out the rights and freedoms of HRDs, the obligations of the State and public authorities for the protection of such rights, the creation and composition of the Human Rights Defenders Protection Committee tasked to enforce these obligations, and the penalties for the violations of the Act.

In view of the foregoing, immediate approval of this measure is earnestly sought.

on their compliance with national law and human rights and fundamental freedoms; and
d. To submit communications and information of the type referred to in Section 10.

SEC. 16. Right to Freedom of Movement. — (1) A person who is lawfully within the territory, or subject to the jurisdiction of the Philippines shall, within its territory or place of jurisdiction, have the right to liberty of movement and freedom to choose his or her residence and shall have the right to carry out lawful activities in the entire territory or place of jurisdiction.
(2) No one lawfully within the Philippine territory shall be expelled, by means of an individual or a collective measure, from its territory, wholly or partially, on account of the acts as a human rights defender.
(3) No one shall be deprived of the right to enter or leave the country on account of one’s status, activities or work as a human rights defender.

SEC. 17. Right to Privacy. — (1) Everyone, individually or in association with others, has the right to privacy.
(2) The right referred to in subsection (1) includes the right of a human rights defender to protect one’s privacy through lawful means, including encryption of personal data, and be free from arbitrary and unlawful intrusion and interference into one’s personal activities including those concerning one’s family, livelihood and place of work, one’s correspondences and possessions, including all digital data pertaining thereto.
(3) “Intrusion and interference” under subsection (2) includes any form of surveillance, recording, within the purview of Republic Act No. 4200, otherwise known as “An Act to Prohibit and Penalize Wire Tapping and Other Related Violations of the Privacy of Communication, and for Other Purposes,” search and seizure in relation to the legitimate activity or work as a human rights defender.
(4) The right to privacy extends to groups, organizations or associations.

SEC. 18. Freedom from Intimidation or Reprisal. — No person shall be subjected, individually or in association with others, to any form of intimidation or reprisal on the grounds of or in relation to one’s status, activities or work as a human rights defender.
SEC. 19. Right to Establish a Sanctuary for Human Rights Victims and or their Families. – Any person, individually or in association with others, who has been subjected to any form of intimidation or reprisal, has the right to establish sanctuaries for any human rights violation victim and/or their immediate families.

Said sanctuary shall be considered established if that person gives confidential notice to the Human Rights Defenders Protection Committee created under this Act indicating that said place, building or area has been constituted as a sanctuary.

SEC. 20. Freedom from Defamation and Stigmatization. – No person shall be subject to any form of defamation, stigmatization, or other harassment, whether offline or online, and whether by public authorities or private actors, in connection with one’s status, activities or work as a human rights defender.

SEC. 21. Right to Exercise Cultural Rights and to Development of Personality. – (1) Consistent with Article 18 (1) of the UN Declaration on Human Rights Defenders, everyone, individually or in association with others, has the right to the unhindered exercise of the cultural rights in one’s activities and work as a human rights defender and to the free and full development of one’s personality.

(2) The right referred to in Subsection (1) includes the right to challenge and change traditional customs and practices that violate human rights and fundamental freedoms.

SEC. 22. Right to Effective Remedy and Full Reparation. – (1) Everyone, individually or in association with others, has the right to an effective remedy and full reparation, both monetary and nonmonetary, in the event of a violation of the rights in this Chapter II or a breach of obligations under Chapter III of this Act.

(2) A person whose rights have been violated or who has been adversely affected by a breach of obligations has the right to obtain such effective remedy and full reparation from the appropriate government agency or court of competent jurisdiction.

(3) A complaint with the competent court or tribunal relating to the violation of rights under a breach of obligations under Chapter III of this Act may be filed by the following:

a. a human rights defender;

b. an association of the human rights defender;

c. a legal or other representative of the human rights defender appointed to conduct the affairs of or to otherwise act on behalf of the human rights defender;
d. a family member of the human rights defender;

e. a group, association or organization with which the human rights defender is associated;

f. any person acting in the public interest and consistently in pursuit of the purposes of this Act; or

g. the Human Rights Defenders' Protection Committee.

However, the consent of the victim must first be obtained as much as possible. In the absence of such consent, the human rights organization or association may proceed with filing the complaint or petition unless the lack or absence of consent is based on the threat to the life, liberty or security of the victim or his or her family.

SEC. 23. Limitation on the Rights of Human Rights Defenders. – In exercising the rights in Chapter II of this Act, a human rights defender, individually or in association with others, shall be subject only to limitations that are prescribed by law, in accordance with international human rights obligations and standards, are reasonable, necessary and proportionate, and are solely for the purpose of securing due recognition of and respect for the human rights and fundamental freedoms of others and meeting the reasonable requirements of public order and general welfare in a democratic society.

CHAPTER III

OBLIGATIONS OF THE STATE AND PUBLIC AUTHORITIES

SEC. 24. Obligation to Respect, Promote, Protect, and Fulfill the Rights of Human Rights Defenders. – Public authorities shall take all necessary measures to ensure: (1) that the human rights and fundamental freedoms in Chapter II of this Act are effectively guaranteed and protected; (2) that all laws, policies and programs of government are consistent with the rights in Chapter II of this Act; and (3) that human rights defenders are able to undertake their activities and work in a safe and enabling environment free from restriction.

SEC. 25. Obligation to Facilitate the Activities and Work of Human Rights Defenders. – Public authorities shall take all necessary measures in accordance with law to facilitate and protect the exercise of the rights in Chapter II of this Act, which measures include the obligation to:

a. permit and facilitate access to places where persons are deprived of liberty;

b. permit and facilitate access to places and to information required by human rights defenders to exercise their rights under Chapter II of this Act;
c. provide information about violations of human rights or fundamental freedoms that may have been committed within the territory or subject to the jurisdiction, including the power or effective control of the State;

d. develop and implement policies and measures to promote, support and enhance the capacity of human rights defenders to protect and promote human rights and fundamental freedoms; and

e. publicly recognize the role, function, and activities and work of human rights defenders as legitimate and important.

SEC. 26. Obligation to Provide Free Access to Materials Relating to Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms. – Public authorities shall make freely available and accessible both offline and online:

a. The Constitution, national laws and regulations;

b. International human rights instruments;

c. Research, studies, reports, data, archives and other information and materials within the possession of public authorities that relate to human rights and fundamental freedoms;

d. Government reports and information submitted to international human rights bodies and mechanisms;

e. Reports and communications of international human rights bodies and mechanisms involving the country’s compliance with international treaty obligations;

f. Documents and information related to the decisions or activities of the Commission on Human Rights and other national authorities with competence in the field of human rights and fundamental freedoms; and

g. All such other information as may be necessary to secure or enable the exercise of any human right or fundamental freedom under Chapter II or access to remedy for violation of any such right.

SEC. 27. Obligation not to Disclose Confidential Sources. – (1) Public authorities shall not disclose or require disclosure of the identity of sources used by human rights defenders.

(2) Notwithstanding Subsection (1), public authorities may disclose the identity of sources used by human rights defenders if both the relevant source and the concerned human rights defender give informed consent in writing to such disclosure or if so required by an independent and impartial tribunal in accordance with international standards.
SEC. 28. Obligation to Prevent and to Ensure Protection from Intimidation or Reprisal. – Public authorities shall take all necessary measures to ensure the prevention of, and protection from any intimidation or reprisal by any other public or private actor. These shall include protection measures established under pertinent laws.

SEC. 29. Obligation to Penalize Intimidation or Reprisal. – Any public authority or private actor who is found guilty of committing intimidation or reprisal against a person on the grounds of or in connection with his or her status, work, activities as a human rights defender, shall be subject to penalties as provided for the appropriate crime or crimes punishable under the Revised Penal Code, in addition to administrative and/or civil sanctions which take into account the gravity of the offense upon the discretion of the court or competent authority.

SEC. 30. Obligation to Refrain from Derogatory and Unfounded Labeling. – (1) Under no circumstance shall public authorities engage in false, unfounded and derogatory labeling of human rights defenders including identifying them as “red,” “communist,” “terrorist” or “enemies of the State”.

(2) Public authorities shall immediately expunge or rectify such labeling as part of the non-monetary reparation to victims referred to in Section 22 (2) of Chapter II and Section 34 of Chapter III of this Act.

SEC. 31. Obligation to Ensure Protection from Arbitrary or Unlawful Intrusion and Interference. – (1) Public authorities shall take extraordinary diligence to ensure the protection of human rights defenders from arbitrary or unlawful intrusion and interference into one’s personal activities including those concerning one’s family, livelihood and place of work, one’s correspondences and possessions, including all digital data pertaining thereto.

(2) Intrusion and interference in subsection (1) include any form of surveillance, recording, search and seizure in relation to any person’s legitimate activity or work as a human rights defender without his or her consent.

SEC. 32. Obligation not to Participate in Violating Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms. – All public authorities are mandated not to participate, by acts of commission or omission, in violating human rights and fundamental freedoms. Subordinate employees have the right and duty to refuse any order from their superiors to participate in acts that contravene their duty to protect, uphold and promote human rights and fundamental freedoms, and shall not be subject to any administrative sanction as a consequence of such refusal.

SEC. 33. Obligation to Conduct Investigation. - Whenever there is reasonable ground to believe that a human rights defender has disappeared, been killed, tortured, ill-treated, arbitrarily detained, threatened or subject to a violation of any of the rights in Chapter II of this Act, whether by a public authority or private actor, the State must ensure that a prompt, thorough, effective, independent and impartial investigation is conducted with extraordinary diligence and is prosecuted under existing applicable laws, including RA 9745, “the Anti-Torture Act”; RA 10353, the “Anti-Enforced or Involuntary Disappearance Act”; and RA 7438, “An Act Defining Certain Rights of Person Arrested, Detained or Under Custodial Investigation as well as the Duties of the Arresting, Detaining and Investigating Officers, and Providing Penalties for Violations Thereof”.
Presumption of regularity in the performance of duty by the offending public authority shall not be invoked.

SEC. 34. Obligation to Ensure Effective Remedy and Full Reparation. – Public authorities shall take all necessary measures to ensure that an effective remedy and full reparation are available and provided for violations of the rights in Chapter II and for breach of the obligations in Chapter III of this Act.

SEC. 35. Obligation to Enforce and Institutionalize Command Responsibility. – Government agencies shall enforce and institutionalize command responsibility and impose sanctions against errant superior in both military and civilian agencies as provided under existing laws and executive issuances.

SEC. 36. Obligation to Adopt Human Rights Based Governance. – Public authorities shall adopt the human rights based approach to governance and development, including counter-insurgency and anti-terrorism programs and policies.

SEC. 37. Obligation to Strengthen Protection Program. – The Commission on Human Rights shall strengthen its protection program and provide a safe place of refuge or sanctuary for high risk human rights defenders and or their immediate families, more particularly those who have filed formal complaints against high ranking public authorities.

SEC. 38. Obligation to Respect the Principle of Non-refoulement. – No person shall be forcibly returned, expelled or extradited to another State where there are substantial grounds to believe that the human rights and fundamental freedoms of the person are in danger of being violated.
SEC. 39. Obligation to Promote and Facilitate Human Rights Education. — All government agencies shall promote, facilitate and adequately provide resources on teaching, training and education about human rights and fundamental freedoms to all persons within the country’s jurisdiction. Teaching, training and education programs shall include information about this Act and the important and legitimate work of human rights defenders.

The Department of Education (DepEd) and the Commission on Higher Education (CHED) shall require human rights education as an obligatory curriculum in all academic institutions, colleges and universities, public or private.

SEC. 40. Diligence Required. — Any complaint or report for violation of human rights and fundamental freedom shall be dealt with and acted upon with extraordinary diligence by concerned government personnel. Failure to act within three (3) days from reporting any violation of this Act shall hold the government personnel criminally, civilly and administratively liable.

CHAPTER IV

THE HUMAN RIGHTS DEFENDERS PROTECTION COMMITTEE

SEC. 41. Creation and Composition of the Human Rights Defenders Protection Committee. — (1) There shall be an independent collegial body to be known as the Human Rights Defenders Protection Committee, herein referred to as the Committee, shall be composed of one

(4) At least two (2) members, including the Chairperson must be members of the Philippine Bar, who have been engaged in the practice of law for at least seven (7) years.

SEC. 43. Term of Office. — The Chairperson and Members of the Committee shall be designated once for a term of five (5) years only. Of those first designated, three (3) Members shall serve for five (5) years, two (2) Members for four (4) years, and the last two (2) Members shall hold office for three (3) years. Succeeding Chairpersons and Members shall be designated for a term of not more than five (5) years. Designation to any vacancy shall be only for the unexpired portion of the term of the predecessor.

SEC. 44. Functions of the Committee. — The Committee shall exercise the following functions:

a. Protect human rights defenders from intimidation and reprisals;

b. Ensure accountability for acts of intimidation and reprisal;

c. Facilitate and promote inter-agency and inter-department coordination to prevent, protect from, investigate, and ensure accountability for acts of intimidation or reprisal;

d. Investigate on its own or on complaint by any party all forms of violations of human rights and fundamental freedoms of human rights defenders;

e. Publicly acknowledge and promote the legitimate and important role, activities and work of human rights defenders;

f. Consult regularly and work closely with human rights defenders in the implementation of this Act;
g. Monitor existing and proposed legislation, assess their impact or potential impact on the status, activities and work of human rights defenders, and propose amendments and/or remedial measures or block their passage if the measures shall to a large extent adversely affect the human rights defenders and their work and activities;

h. Prepare and submit reports and communications on the situation of human rights defenders to relevant international and regional human rights bodies and mechanisms;

i. Monitor and carry out periodic reviews of the implementation of this Act, the first of which shall be conducted one (1) year after its effectivity.

j. Submit annual reports on the situation of human rights defenders and the status of implementation of this Act to the Office of the President of the Senate and the Office of the Speaker of the House of Representatives;

k. Make recommendations to relevant authorities on the appropriate measures to be taken to promote a safe and enabling environment for human rights defenders, mitigate and prevent the risks they face, and address the root causes of violations against human defenders; and

l. Perform other relevant functions as may be necessary to attain the objectives of this Act.

SEC. 45. Training and Vetting. – All persons involved in the work and activities of the Committee, including security and law enforcement officials, shall be appropriately vetted and shall receive training on human rights and fundamental freedoms, the situation and protection needs of human rights defenders prior to the commencement of the involvement, and continuing training designed to ensure full and effective implementation of the Act.

CHAPTER V

this Act which shall constitute the main crime or as an aggravating circumstance shall not entitle the offender or the accused to the privileges of probation under the Probation Law.

CHAPTER VI

FINAL PROVISIONS

SEC. 50. Implementing Rules and Regulations. – (1) Within sixty (60) days from the effectivity of this Act, the Commission on Human Rights, Member of the House Committee on Human Rights, Member of the Senate Committee on Justice and Human Rights, in consultation with PAHRA, Karapatan, FLAG, and NUPL, and other human rights organizations and individual human rights defenders of known probity, shall jointly promulgate the Implementing Rules and Regulations (IRR) for the effective implementation of this Act and shall ensure the full dissemination of the Act and the IRR to the public.

(2) In formulating the corresponding rules and regulations and in implementing this Act, the following guiding principles shall be strictly adhered to:

a. Adherence to the rule of law is the ultimate safeguard against violations of human rights and fundamental freedoms.

b. Empowerment of human rights defenders is enhanced by their active participation in formulating, implementing, and evaluating protection programs for human rights defenders.

c. Periodic assessments of risks, vulnerability or conflict help identify protection needs of human rights defenders giving particular attention to those of women and others' who are at increased risks.

d. Keeping and maintaining confidentiality of the personal data collected on human rights defenders and those referred to in Sec. 22 (3) herein upholds their right to privacy and security of person.

e. Continuous training of the members of the Committee Secretariat on human rights and fundamental freedoms, the root causes of their violations, and the work and protection needs of human rights defenders help sustain their commitment to the objectives of the Act.

f. Independent and effective operation of the Committee and its Secretariat requires sustained adequate resources.

g. Transparent, aboveboard, and equitable resource allocation and disbursement help ensure maximum protection to human rights defenders and their constituencies particularly those of higher risks and vulnerabilities.

h. Risks and challenges faced by women and lesbians, gays, bisexuals and transgenders (LGBT) human rights defenders and those working on women's and LGBT rights and gender issues demand special attention.

i. Generating support from a strong, independent, and effective national human rights institution and from the general public enhances and contributes to the effective work of human rights defenders.

j. Open access to the United Nations and international human rights bodies contributes to a safe and enabling environment for human rights defenders to work in.

SEC. 51. Suppletory Applications. – The applicable provisions of the Revised Penal Code shall have suppletory application insofar as they are consistent with the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 52. Appropriations. – The amounts necessary for the implementation of this Act shall be included in the annual General Appropriations Act.

SEC. 53. Separability Clause. – If for any reason any part or provision of this Act is declared unconstitutional or invalid, the other parts or provisions hereof which are not affected thereby shall remain and continue to be in full force and effect.
