AN ACT
CREATING A HIGH SCHOOL FOR THE ARTS IN THE PROVINCE OF ANTIQUE TO BE KNOWN AS THE ANTIQUE HIGH SCHOOL FOR THE ARTS, AND APPROPRIATING FUNDS THEREFOR, AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Art is an important pillar in nation building. Through its different forms, the arts provide continuous development of the roles of talented and passionate individuals in the preservation and promotion of Filipino artistic and cultural traditions. According to the former Chairman of the National Commission for Culture and the Arts (NCCA), Professor Felipe de Leon, Jr., the development of art allows people to express themselves and to strengthen their cultural energy, a motivation to work and engage meaningfully in social interactions.

The province of Antique is rich in culture and traditions evident in the existence and usage of the Kinaray-a language, the long-preserved performing arts of Komedya, the traditional practices of the indigenous peoples like the Atis and the Iraymon Bukidnon, among others. The different facets of life in the province of Antique are also depicted in the colorful weaves of their patadyong, sculptures and pottery, are described in their songs, poems and stories, and are showcased in their dances and performances.

Unbeknownst to many, there are numerous Antiqueños who excelled in the various fields of the arts. For literary arts, Professor Alicia P. Magos, anthropologist and professor emerita of the University of the Philippines, greatly contributed in the development of the Kinaray-a literature through her numerous publications on suigidanons (epics) and the ma-aram (babaylan) tradition in Antique. She was a UNESCO International Literary Research Awardee and a Metrobank Outstanding Teacher in 1999.

For visual arts, two notable artists hailed from Antique: the 1999 National Artist for visual Arts Jeremias Elizalde Navarro and Edsel Moscoso, also one of the 1975 Outstanding Young Artists of the Art Association of the Philippines. They both came from San Jose de Buenavista, the capital town of Antique. Three of Navarro’s major mixed media works were: I’m Sorry Jesus, I Can’t Attend Christmas This Year (1965), his Homage to Dodjie Laurel (1969: Ateneo Art Gallery collection), and A Flying Contraption for Mr. Icarus (1984: Lopez Museum). On the other hand, Moscoso’s paintings depicted his observations of the daily rural life, of fisherfolk, farmers and women, and were described by National Artist for Literature Nick Joaquin as “manscapes”.

Filipinos are born natural artists. The art reflects the heart of our nation and frames the character of our people. It is high time for the national government to give due importance to the arts as they serve as an integral part of our youth’s development and cultural awareness. Specifically, in order to cultivate the skills of young Antiqueño artists and leaders in the preservation of their heritage and identity through arts and culture education, this bill mandates the creation of the Antique High School for the Arts. The School will be administered by the Department of Education (DepEd), in coordination with the NCCA and the Cultural Center of the Philippines (CCP).

Given the above, the immediate passage of this bill is earnestly sought.
