AN ACT
ESTABLISHING THE PHILIPPINE ENERGY RESEARCH AND POLICY INSTITUTE, DEFINING ITS OBJECTIVES, POWERS AND FUNCTIONS, AND APPROPRIATING
FUNDS THEREFOR

Explanatory Note

The Philippines needs to develop a stable, sustainable, affordable, and reliable energy supply by harnessing the latest research and technology available in order to meet the country’s growing demand for energy and the administration's long-term development goals.

The proposed Philippine Energy Research and Policy Institute (PERPI) will serve as an independent body which shall undertake trans-disciplinary research, explore and develop the latest technologies, and provide autonomous policy output or recommendations for the benefit of policy makers as well as private and public energy stakeholders. Under the bill, it will be an independent policy and technology research institution attached to the University of the Philippines headed by an Executive Director who is a recognized expert in energy policy and research.

This bill seeks to bridge the research and policy gap in the energy sector. It recognizes the importance of autonomous and rigorous trans-disciplinary research in formulating sound energy policies and legislation, and thus charges the PERPI to undertake collaborative energy policy research among the academe and energy stakeholders; provide technical assistance to the government on energy planning and energy issues; establish mechanisms for dissemination and utilization of research for technology and policy development, create and administer training programs and provide appropriate fellowship grants for capacity building of the academe and energy stakeholders; and to serve as a medium in bringing together local and international experts in the field of energy through local and international linkages.

In view of the foregoing, the immediate passage of this measure is sought.
