Hazard pay is the additional pay to employees for performing hazardous duty or work involving physical hardship or potentially dangerous work environment. Work duty that causes extreme physical discomfort and distress, which is not adequately alleviated by protective devices, is deemed to impose a physical hardship.

In the past, a number of government employees have been harmed, and worse, killed in pursuance of their duties. Worse, occupational related diseases and injuries are increasing as the economy continues to grow. Workplace accidents had a slight increase from 2011 to 2013 from 46,655 to 47,440. Workplace injuries are also increasing from 2011 to 2013 (48,957 to 49,118) with manufacturing industry accounting for the highest share in workplace injuries (51% to 48%). The Philippine Statistics Authority (PSA) recorded a growth in occupational diseases across eleven industries. The steady incline in occupation related injuries and disease are also speculated to continue as these industries expand.

In addition, most of government employees who are injured in fulfilling their duties could not afford the medical treatment. Worse, the families of the deceased have been unable to afford their departed relatives a decent burial. Thus, it is only fitting that they be provided compensation for the risks connected with their duties.

This re-filed version of the bill seeks to provide all government officials and employees hazard pay especially in cases where they are assigned to areas such as but not limited to hazardous, isolated and inaccessible environment, x-ray units, institutions that care for the mentally deranged, places that are subject to predation by criminal elements, plants and installations of the arsenal, aboard aircrafts and watercrafts in crossing bodies of water and other similar areas.
