EXPLANATORY NOTE

Despite the need to provide for increasing local demand for rice, local rice farmers and producers are also able to tap a huge export market for certain varieties of rice, particularly that of the aromatic and fancy kind, which are highly favored internationally in making specialty rice cuisine.

Whereas, in the past exportation of rice has been severely regulated, there have arisen opportunities to earn and establish ourselves in the international market for specialty rice that warrant a change of policy. The growing popularity of aromatic rice dishes, not only in Asia and the Middle East but also in the United States, Canada and Europe, has sparked demand for the Jasmine rice of Thailand, the Basmati varieties of India and Pakistan, and other varieties and grades which provide a natural aroma when cooked, such as those already locally developed.

By supporting local production of such aromatic and fancy rice varieties and authorizing their exportation, the National Government can help set the Philippines again as a major player in the international rice market.

Considering the merits of this bill, its early approval is earnestly requested.

HOUSE BILL NO. 1305

AN ACT TO PROMOTE THE PRODUCTION OF AROMATIC RICE AND FANCY RICE VARIETIES AND TO AUTHORIZE THE EXPORTATION THEREOF

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in Congress assembled:

SECTION 1. Declaration of Policy. It is hereby declared a policy, that whereas the country is striving to attain self-sufficiency in rice production in the ordinary, hybrid and other varieties of rice for domestic consumption, it is important and critical that we open up opportunities for the production and exportation of aromatic rice and fancy rice varieties which command a premium in the world market.

The provision of existing law to the contrary notwithstanding, the National Food Authority is hereby empowered to directly export, or through accredited export producers and traders, aromatic rice and fancy rice varieties, preferably those organically grown, as these are in high demand in international markets.

SECTION 2. Aromatic rice and fancy rice varieties for export. The aromatic rice and fancy rice varieties that may be authorized for export under this Act shall include: Sinampaguita; Denorado; Milagrosa; Sinandomeng; Maligaya Selection 3, 6 and 8; College # 22, UPLB Rice # 5 and 7 and such other varieties as the National Food Authority may determine, after production trials and market analysis, and thereby declared to be marketable for export.

SECTION 3. Means of support. The National Food Authority shall encourage the production of such identified aromatic rice and fancy rice varieties through direct technical assistance, funding support, stand-by purchase commitments, or in cooperation with government or private sector institutions, formulate and implement production and export programs for such varieties of rice.
