EXPLANATORY NOTE

Every Filipino, especially women and minors, has the right to feel safe in his/her streets, schools, offices, public utility vehicles, and other public spaces. The State is mandated to exercise all powers necessary to ensure that its people are safe within its jurisdiction. While there are laws in place, such as the Anti-Rape Law of 1997 which amended, expanded, and reclassified the crime of rape as a crime against persons under the Revised Penal Code (RPC) – one Filipino is still raped every hour and thousands suffer from various acts and forms of sexual harassment\(^1\).

The RPC likewise enumerates other crimes of perversion that fall outside the ambit of rape, but are nonetheless tantamount to sexual harassment. The current laws in place do not differentiate the acts of sexual harassment done in private spaces from those committed in public, or provide for their penalties.

We are hereby compelled to propose this bill in recognition of the greater perversity and disrespect of the law that is manifest when one sexually harasses another in public spaces. Under this bill, tagged as the Safe Streets, Workplaces and Public Spaces Act of 2018, unwanted comments, gestures, and actions forced on a person in a public space without his/her consent that intend to sexually harass or result in harassment, fear, or intimidation the basis of the victim’s shall be penalized. Graver penalties shall be imposed on individuals who take advantage of their position or authority in performance of such acts.

There is an urgent call to intensify our sexual harassment prevention efforts in all public venues. This bill answers the same by incorporating not only penal sanctions, but also educational policies. Upon effectivity of the law, courses in high school and college shall include age-appropriate educational modules against street and public spaces harassment to be developed by the Department of Education (DepEd), the Commission on Higher Education (CHED), the Technical Education and Skills Development Authority (TESDA) and Philippine Commission on Women (PCW).

For a country that prides itself in the apparent equality between men and women in the workplace and in society, statistics consistently reveal that thousands of Filipinas remain unsafe and have fallen victims to sexual harassment of one kind or the other. It is high time that we put a stop to this.

In light of the foregoing premises, the swift passage of this bill is humbly sought.

It shall cover principals, school heads, teachers, instructors, professors, coaches, trainers, or any other person who has authority, influence or moral ascendancy over another in an educational or training institution, as well as students.
Each school, whether grade school, high school, tertiary, or vocational institutions, shall designate an officer-in-charge of receiving complaints regarding violations of this Act, and shall ensure that complainants are provided with a gender-sensitive environment that is both respectful of complainants' needs and conducive to truth-telling. Even if an individual does not want to file a complaint or does not request that the school take any action on the student's behalf, if a school knows or reasonably should know about possible sexual harassment or sexual violence, it must promptly investigate to determine what occurred and then take appropriate steps to resolve the situation. If a school knows or reasonably should know about sexual harassment or sexual violence that creates a hostile environment, the school must take immediate action to eliminate the sexual harassment or sexual violence, prevent its recurrence, and address its effects.

SEC. 17. Duties of School Heads. - School heads shall have the following duties:

a) Disseminate or post in a conspicuous place a copy of this Act to all persons in the educational institution;

b) Provide measures to prevent sexual harassment in educational institutions, such as information campaigns;

c) Create an independent internal mechanism to investigate and address complaints of sexual harassment which shall:

1) Adequately represent the school administration, the trainers, instructors, professors or coaches and students or trainees, students and parents, as the case may be;
2) Be headed by a woman and not less than half of its members should be women;
3) Members should be impartial and not connected or related to the alleged perpetrator;
4) Investigate and decide on complaints within ten (10) days or less;
5) Observe due process;
6) Protect the complainant from retaliation; and
7) Guarantee confidentiality to the greatest extent possible.

d) Provide and disseminate, in consultation with all persons in the educational institution, a code of conduct or school policy which shall:
1) Expressly reiterate the prohibition on sexual harassment;
2) Describe the procedures of the internal mechanism created under this Act, and
3) Set administrative penalties.

SEC. 18. Liability of School Heads. - In addition to liability for committing acts of sexual harassment, principals, school heads, teachers, instructors, professors, coaches, trainers, or any other person who has authority, influence or moral ascendancy over another in an educational or training institution may also be held responsible for:

a) Non-implementation of their duties under Section 17 of this Act, as provided in the penal provisions; or

b) Failure to act on reported acts of sexual harassment committed in the educational institution.

SEC. 19. Liability of Students. Minor students who are found to have committed acts of sexual harassment shall only be held liable for administrative sanctions by the school as stated in their school handbook.

SEC. 20. Routine Inspection. - The Department of Education (DepEd), the Commission on Higher Education (CHED), and the Technical Education and Skills Development Authority (TESDA) shall conduct regular spontaneous inspections to ensure compliance of school heads with their obligations under this Act.

ARTICLE IV
FINAL PROVISIONS

SEC. 21. PNP Women and Children’s Desks. - The Women Children’s desks now existing in all police stations shall act on and attend to all complaints covered under this Act. They shall coordinate with A-SHE officers on the street, security guards in privately-owned spaces open to the public, and anti-sexual harassment officers in government and private offices or schools in the enforcement of the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 22. Educational Modules. - Courses in high school and college shall include age-appropriate educational modules against street and public spaces harassment, such modules to be developed by the DepEd, CHED, TESDA and PCW.

SEC. 23. Safety Audits. - LGUs are required to conduct safety audits every three years to determine effective implementation of the Act within their jurisdictions. Such audits shall be multi-sectoral and participatory, with consultations undertaken with schools, police officers, and civil society organizations.

SEC. 24. Appropriations. Such amounts as may be necessary for the implementation of this Act shall be indicated under the annual General Appropriations Act (GAA). National and local government agencies shall be authorized to utilize their mandatory Gender and Development (GAD) budget, as provided under Republic Act No. 9710, otherwise known as the “Magna Carta of Women” for this purpose. In addition, LGUs may also use their mandatory twenty (20%) allocation of their annual internal revenue allotments for Local Development Projects as provided under Section 287 of the Republic Act 7610, otherwise known as the “Local Government Code of 1991”.

SEC. 25. Separability Clause. - If any provision or part hereof is held invalid or unconstitutional, the remaining provisions not affected thereby shall remain valid and subsisting.

SEC. 26. Repealing Clause. - Any law, presidential decree or issuance, executive order, letter of instruction, administrative order, rule or regulation contrary to or inconsistent with the provisions of this Act is hereby repealed, modified or amended accordingly.

SEC. 27. Effectivity. - This Act shall take effect fifteen (15) days after its Publication in the Official Gazette or in any two (2) newspapers of general circulation in the Philippines.

Approved,
