EXPLANATORY NOTE

Majority of Filipino are commuters. Being a developing country, most of the people do not own private cars. The people heavily rely on public transportation to go from one place to another and do their jobs and duties for the day. One kind of public utility that offers ride to the public is the buses. Buses usually traverse major thoroughfares and follow a rather long route. Buses in Metro Manila for example travel from the north in Monumento down to the southern areas of Pasay City or Paranaque City. There are also provincial buses which take more time and have more distant destinations. The numerous bus lines or bus companies now existing and operating nationwide just prove how buses have become an integral part of the lives of the Filipino commuters.
Lately however, there have been a lot of traffic related crimes and buses are no exception to the ill motives of the perpetrators. Buses easily fall prey to hold-up incidents wherein a group or armed men board random buses and then hi-jack the same. They take all the precious and valuable belongings of all the passengers on the bus as well as the money/ bus fares collected by the driver/ bus conductor for the day. To make things worse, such situation may even escalate to a violent one wherein passengers are harmed, injured and even killed as an incident of the act of robbery.

These victimized bus passengers and the bus employees themselves are rendered completely helpless and powerless once a crime has been indiscriminately committed against them. As it is the modus operandi of the robbers to force everyone inside the bus to bring the bus curtains down, no one from the outside could tell that a robbery or hold-up is in fact already happening on the bus. No one is there to rescue or help out the victims. Consequently, the safety of every passenger’s life, liberty and/or property is completely jeopardized and the said wrongdoers sometimes get away with their crime and worst, do not get successfully prosecuted because of lack of witnesses.

In light of the recent proliferation of bus-related crimes, there is clearly an impelling need for State intervention to ensure that the commuters are provided adequate protection from harm of their life and property.

The role of the State in protecting the life, liberty and property of the Filipino commuters, becomes vital in this respect. There is a need for an immediate solution to this serious problem that would effectively deter potential crime perpetrators from holding up and/or robbing the helpless passengers of public utility busses.

The mandatory installation of a closed-circuit television (CCTV) or a security (video) camera in every public utility bus in the country will allow the bus operators to detect real-time whether or not a bus is being held-up. This will allow the bus operators to timely alert the law enforcement authorities that a crime is currently happening inside a certain bus in a certain place. This will give the police a better window of opportunity to prevent the crime and/or apprehend the criminals. The probability of timely catching the criminals will surely increase. Moreover, knowing that their movement can be traced through the security cameras, the potential criminals will be effectively deterred from victimizing passengers thereof for even if the police don’t make it on the scene on time, the faces of the criminals have already been recorded and this will facilitate post-crime investigations better. Apprehending the accountable persons in a bus-related crimes has always been difficult, if not nearly impossible, because of the lack of leads. Through the approval of this bill, such limitation will be downright addressed.

Undeniably, the mandatory installation of CCTV or security camera in every bus operated for public utility would be beneficial to all the parties involved – the owners/operators who can maintain goodwill and reputation by promising the public good and safe transportation services; the innocent drivers and bus conductors who may also be victimized at times; and more importantly, the riding public who, aside from having to deal with the little inconveniences entailed by commuting, expose themselves to great risk upon doing so because they have no choice and they need the said transportation.

It is for this reason that the approval of this Bill is being sought.
