EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Barangay, the most fundamental unit of the political system of the Philippines, plays a central role in the formulation, evaluation, and implementation of government policies. It is the primary administrative engines of grassroots development and its officials are given the daunting responsibility of implementing programs, maintain public order, and ensuring the welfare of every Filipino.

The Barangay is also quintessentially a Filipino term, originating from the word balangay, or the kind of boat used by a group of Austronesians migrating to the Philippines. Nowadays, the term would come to equate the word community or town. For Filipinos who grew up in the same community for the whole of their lives, the word "Barangay" would be equal to "home". This is especially true for overseas Filipinos who come home to their Barangays with much excitement and balikbayan boxes of pasalubong.

In recognition of the importance of our Barangays, this bill aims to empower the barangays by providing them appropriate basic services and facilities. It hopes to ensure that barangays enjoy genuine and meaningful local autonomy and provide its officials with benefits and privileges accorded to a regular government employee. It further delegates the Sangguniang Barangay the determination of the proper number of Barangay Tanods, considered to be the bastion of public order and safety, needed in their respective barangays.
The approval of this counterpart bill to Senator Bong Go's version in the Senate is earnestly sought.

LUIS RAYMUND "LRAY" F. VILLAFUERTE, JR.
