AN ACT
STRENGTHENING THE CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS OF GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES TO SELF-ORGANIZATION, COLLECTIVE NEGOTIATION AND PEACEFUL CONCERTED ACTIVITIES AND USE OF VOLUNTARY MODES OF DISPUTE SETTLEMENT

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Philippine government is the single biggest employer in the country. Based on the Labor Force Survey of the Philippine Statistics Authority (PSA) for the July 2018 round, out of the total 26.567 million wage and salary workers, 3.668 million are in the government or government-owned and controlled corporations (GOCCs).

On 14 August 2017, the Philippine Government ratified ILO Convention 151, known as Labour Relations (Public Service) Convention, 1978, or the "Convention concerning Protection of the Right to Organise and Procedures for Determining Conditions of Employment in the Public Service" after nine (9) long years of campaigning by the public sector organizations for its ratification. The ratification is expected to usher an era of robust and progressive labor relations environment for the public service.

The 1987 Philippine Constitution recognizes the public sector employees right to self-organization through Article IX-B and this Constitutional guarantee was translated into Executive Order No. 180, Series of 1987, or the "Guidelines for the Exercise of the Right to Organize of Government Employees, Creating a Public Sector Labor-Management Council, and For Other Purposes". Executive Order No. 180 and its implementing rules and regulations have since been the governing issuances on public sector labor relations. It has not been amended despite the need and several attempts to do so for an enabling environment for decent work in the public sector and address permeating patronage system, bloated bureaucracy, "transaction costs/corruption in the bureaucracy" and inefficient public service. There are also longstanding observations by the ILO Committee of Experts on the Application of Conventions and Recommendations (CEACR) in respect to gaps in the laws and practices with respect to public sector unionism.
The essentiality of having a robust and progressive labor relations environment cannot be overemphasized. It would create conditions for a professionalized, trained, motivated and efficient public sector employees which are essential ingredients in fostering sustainable good and high quality public service. In fact, the main argument for the ratification of ILO Convention No. 151 was the mobilization of the public sector employees in reforming the bureaucracy and in addressing corruption and widespread “endo” or end of contract engagement of public service employees in core or critical services through job orders or contracts of service, casuals and other forms of contractual work.

With this and the obligation arising from the ratification of ILO Convention No. 151, upgrading Philippine laws and practices on freedom of association and collective bargaining in the public sector is imperative. Hence, this proposed measure to address the gaps in public sector labor relations particularly on: protection of the right to organize, facilities to be afforded to public sector employees’ organizations, procedures for determining the terms and conditions of employment, civil and political rights, and settlement of disputes arising or in connection with the determination of terms and conditions of employment.

employees’ organization, federation or confederation;

(g) No officer, agent or member of the employees’ organization, federation or confederation shall collect any fees, dues, or other contributions in its behalf or make any disbursement of its money or funds unless he/she is duly authorized pursuant to its constitution and by-laws;

(h) Every payment of fees, dues or other contributions by a member shall be evidenced by a receipt signed by the officer or agent making the collection and entered into the record of the employees’ organization, federation or confederation to be kept and maintained for the purpose;

(i) The funds of the employees’ organization, federation or confederation shall not be applied for any purpose or object other than those expressly provided by its constitution and by-laws or those expressly authorized by written resolution adopted by the majority of the members at a general meeting duly called for the purpose;

(j) Every income or revenue of the employees’ organization, federation or confederation shall be evidenced by a record showing its source, and every expenditure of its funds shall be evidenced by a receipt from the person to whom the payment is made, which shall state the date, place and purpose of such payment. Such record or receipt shall form part of the financial records of the organization, federation or confederation.
Any action involving the funds of the employees' organization, federation or confederation shall prescribe after three (3) years from the date of submission of the annual financial report to the Board or from the date the same should have been submitted as required by law, whichever comes earlier: Provided, that this provision shall apply only to registered employees' organization or federation or confederation which has submitted the financial report requirements under this Act: Provided, further, that failure of any employees' organization, federation or confederation to comply with the periodic financial reports required by law and such rules and regulations promulgated thereunder six (6) months after the effectivity of this Act shall be a ground for disciplinary action against the responsible officer/s;

The officers shall not be paid any compensation other than the salaries and expenses due to their positions as specifically provided for in its constitution and by-laws, or in a written resolution duly authorized by a majority of all the members at a general membership meeting duly called for the purpose. The minutes of the meeting and the list of participants and ballots cast shall be subject to inspection by the Board through the Bureau of Labor Relations as its duly authorized representatives. Any irregularities in the approval of the resolutions shall be a ground for impeachment or expulsion from the employees' organization, federation or confederation;

The treasurer and every officer thereof who is responsible for the account of such organization or for the collection, management, disbursement, custody or control of the funds, moneys and other properties of the organization, shall render to the organization and to its members a true and correct account of all moneys received and paid by him/her since he/she assumed office or since the last day on which he/she rendered such account, and of all bonds, securities and other properties of the organization entrusted to his/her custody or under his/her control. The rendering of such account shall be made:

(1) At least once a year within thirty (30) days after the close of its fiscal year;
(2) At such other times as may be required by a resolution of the majority of the members of the organization; and
(3) Upon vacating his/her office.

The account shall be duly audited and verified by affidavit and a copy thereof shall be furnished the Secretary of Labor.

The books of accounts and other records of the financial activities shall be open to inspection by any officer or member thereof during office hours;
(n) No special assessment or other extraordinary fees may be levied upon the members unless authorized by a written resolution of a majority of all the members in a general membership meeting duly called for the purpose. The secretary of the organization shall record the minutes of the meeting including the list of all members present, the votes cast, the purpose of the special assessment or fees and the recipient of such assessment or fees. The record shall be attested to by the president.

(o) Other than for mandatory activities, no special assessments, attorney’s fees, negotiation fees or any other extraordinary fees may be checked off from any amount due to an employee without an individual written authorization duly signed by the employee. The authorization should specifically state the amount, purpose and beneficiary of the deduction; and

(p) It shall be the duty of any organization and its officers to inform its members on the provisions of its constitution and by-laws, collective bargaining agreement, the prevailing labor relations system and all their rights and obligations under existing laws. For this purpose, reasonable dues to finance labor relations seminars and other labor education activities may be assessed.

Any violation of the above rights and conditions of membership shall be a ground for expulsion of the officers from the employees’ organization, federation or confederation. At least thirty percent (30%) of the members of an employees’ organization or of total number of affiliated employees’ organization in the case of federation or confederation, or any member or members specially concerned may report such violation to the Board. The Board shall have the power to hear and decide any reported violation to mete the appropriate penalty.

Criminal and civil liabilities arising from violations of above rights and conditions of membership shall continue to be under the jurisdiction of ordinary courts.

The Board members shall serve for a term of three (3) years or until their successors shall have been elected in the National Workers’ Congress or unless recalled by the organization being represented. There shall be no added emoluments other than work performed in such capacity shall be considered as official time. In no case, however, shall anyone of them serve under holdover capacity for more than one (1) year.

SEC. 14. Original and exclusive jurisdiction of the Board. - The Board shall have original and exclusive jurisdiction to hear and decide the following cases:

(a) Unfair labor practice;

(b) Disputes arising in the course of the conduct of collective negotiations;

(c) Disputes on issues resulting from the interpretation or implementation of the grievance machinery;

(d) Determination of the presence or absence of strike;

(e) Disputes on the issues from the interpretation or implementation of the provision of collective negotiation agreement;

(f) Violation of the fundamental rights of workers; and

(g) Grave abuse of management prerogatives.

SEC. 15. Appellate jurisdiction of the Board. - The Board shall have appellate jurisdiction on decision or orders of the Bureau of Labor Relations on:

(a) Representation issues;

(b) Inter- and intra-employees’ organization, federation or confederation disputes;

(c) Issues arising from the election or expulsion of officers of employees’ organization, federation or confederation;

(d) Certification election; and

(e) Verification of voluntary recognition.
SEC. 16. Support and assistance of the Civil Service Commission, Department of Labor and Employment, National Conciliation and Mediation Board and law enforcement agencies. - (a) The Board shall have a number of employees as may be necessary. It shall be supported and assisted by the Civil Service Commission, Department of Labor and Employment and the National Conciliation and Mediation Board (NCMB) in the administration of Public Sector Labor Relations.

(b) Specific to the Department of Labor and Employment, the Bureau of Labor Relations shall continue, pursuant to its existing mandate under Executive Order No. 180, Series of 1987, and the Labor Code of the Philippines, as amended, to conduct hearings on inter or intra-union disputes with respect to public sector organizations, including the registration and cancellation of registration of employees' organization, federation or confederation. The decision of the Bureau shall be appealable to the Board within fifteen (15) calendar days from the date of receipt thereof by the parties.

(c) With respect to the National Conciliation and Mediation Board, an attached agency to the Department of Labor and Employment, for purposes of this Act, it shall create a conciliation-mediation unit and assigned personnel that shall take cognizance of public sector concerns for conciliation-mediation services whether individual or disputes arising from collective bargaining negotiations or interpretations. Unless there is a need for adjustments, the existing guidelines on conciliation-mediation services shall be observed.

(d) Further, a unit for public sector labor relations disputes shall be created from the existing voluntary arbitration system administered by the National Conciliation and Mediation Board as established pursuant to Title VII-A, Book V of the Labor Code of the Philippines, as amended, to take cognizance disputes such as unfair labor practice or assumed cases by the Board or any other cases that the parties may opt to submit to voluntary arbitration subject to existing guidelines and schedule of fees. The Board however, at its option, may directly conduct voluntary arbitration.

Any national or local law enforcement agency or instrumentality of the government may be tapped by the Board to act under its direct and immediate supervision, to enforce and execute its decision, orders, and rulings.

SEC. 17. Writ of Preliminary Injunction or Temporary Restraining Order. – The Board may issue a writ of preliminary injunction or temporary restraining order when, on the basis of the allegations in the petition, it is established that the acts complained of involving or arising from an employee-management dispute, if not restrained will cause grave or irreparable injury to any party or render ineffectual any decision in favor of such party.
The Board shall require the petitioner to post a bond and the writ of preliminary injunction or temporary restraining order shall become effective only upon approval of the bond which shall answer for any damage that may be suffered by the party enjoyed if it is finally determined that the petitioner is not entitled to the ancillary relief prayed for.

SEC. 18. Grounds for Contempt. – The Board may cite a person for contempt on any of the following grounds:

(a) Disobedience or resistance to lawful order, decision, rulings, summons or subpoena or any other issuance of the Board, or

(b) Unlawful interference with the proceedings of the Board, improper conduct tending, directly or indirectly to impede, obstruct, delay or hamper the implementation of any order, decision or ruling as provided in this Act.

SEC. 19. PSLRB decision. – Decisions of the Board in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction are final and executory unless a motion for reconsideration is filed by the aggrieved party within fifteen (15) calendar days from the receipt of the decision and only on the basis of palpable or potent errors. The Board shall not entertain any second motion for reconsideration.

Decisions of the Board, in the exercise of its original or appellate jurisdiction, may be elevated to the Court of Appeals through the extra-ordinary remedy of petition for certiorari.

SEC. 20. Operations of the Board. - The Board shall have a Technical Executive Committee (TEC) as its technical and implementing arm and a permanent Secretariat. For this purpose, the following shall be observed:

(a) The Board shall designate from among themselves the chairperson and members of the Technical Executive Committee, in such numbers as it may deem appropriate. The TEC shall regularly meet to: (1) pre-process issues and concerns and submit recommendations for approval and issuance by the Board; (2) monitor, perform or implement decisions, activities and projects as approved by the Board; and (3) perform such other functions as may be required by the Board.

(b) The Civil Service Commission's Personnel Relations Office (CSC-PRO) shall be converted to the permanent Secretariat that shall provide technical and secretariat support to the Board and to the TEC.

(c) The Board may also constitute itself into divisions of three (3) members for efficient functioning and shall convene en banc on matters of policy concerns or in case of disagreements in the divisions. But in all cases, the signing authority for decisions of the Board shall be the Chairperson and to be concurred in by a majority... of the members present during the meeting. A quorum to conduct official business of the division or en banc shall be determined by the Board.
(d) The Board shall be allocated funds and resources to ensure its operations from the budget of the Civil Service Commission and the Office of the Executive Secretary.
