EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Trade Union Congress of the Philippines (TUCP), as the largest aggregation of labor federations and labor unions in the country, has laboriously strived and worked for investment generation and job creation. It has continuously supported and provided assistance to sunrise industries, especially for the micro to medium scale enterprises. This is because these small businesses are the ones that account for a very big fraction of new jobs created.

A most recent growth industry is the wellness centers. More often, these wellness centers are an amalgamation of beauty and grooming salons, fitness gyms, spas and massage parlors, and other interrelated services. The size of the business of such centers range from micro, which are found in very small communities to really large enterprises, located in very affluent areas.

This industry is the bread and butter of thousands of barbers, haircutters or hairstylists; manicurists or pedicurists; make-up artists or beauty professionals; masseuse, reflexologists or therapists; and, gym trainers, fitness instructors or dieticians. Most of these are “experts” in their individual fields who have undergone professional training.

However, in most instances, the services of these persons are merely “outsourced” by the wellness centers. In other words, they are not employed but are treated as independent contractors.

They “lease” the facilities of the centers and bring their own set of clients there. Their compensation or payment is based on a per “head” basis. They earn a commission or share in the payments due from their clients. They are not required to observe office hours or report to the company every day. They are not devoting their time exclusively for one company. They are free to work on any other wellness facility, or to engage in any other employment.

One of the predicaments for such persons is their membership in the Social Security System (SSS). With the above mentioned arrangement, they are considered as self-employed. Thus they pay their entire SSS membership dues. There is no one to pay the heftier employer counterpart.
Consequently, it is very expensive for them to continuously pay and be an active SSS member. In most instances, they just discontinue their payment of their SSS dues.

This bill seeks to remove the said persons from the definition of self-employed under the SSS law. Irrespective of the contractual arrangement or their non-recognition as employees, or of the kind or source of their commissions. Earnings, compensation or payment for their services, they shall not be considered as self-employed.

The wellness center or the barbershop, salon, spa, massage parlor, fitness gym or any other similar entity to which they are affiliated or regularly report to render their services shall be considered their employer. For this purpose such wellness center shall deduct and withhold from the concerned person’s average monthly commissions, earnings, compensation or payment, his/her employee’s contribution, as well as pay for and remit the counterpart employer’s contribution.

With this, the said persons would be able to continue being an active SSS member and reap the benefits thereof, whether while they are still working or upon their retirement.

In view of the foregoing, the immediate passage of the bill is earnestly sought.
