EXPLANATORY NOTE

This bill was originally introduced as House Bill No. 3317 during the 15th Congress where it was approved on 3rd reading and was transmitted to the Senate where it was not acted upon. It was re-filed during the 16th Congress and again during the 17th Congress.

The barangay has been historically viewed as a mere political unit tasked to organize the political life of a community. However, the barangay must now assume a more activist role in generating employment and income for its members, notably the unemployed. Since the barangay is the government unit closest to the people where certain levels of executive, legislative and judicial functions are bestowed, it is the proper vehicle to actualize the vision of people empowerment.

Further, from its incorporation into the local government units, barangay captains have become more active in community governance and public service. Through various enactments, barangay captains have been obliged to take various responsibilities which include, among others, keeping the peace through the organization of foot patrols; arbitrating differences between community members; assisting in the conduct of elections, and most recently, assisting in the evacuation of communities in disaster areas caused by natural calamity or war.

In these instances, it is not uncommon for barangay captains to literally be in the front of a firing line. As in fact, several barangay captains have lost their lives in the service of their communities against criminals.

Most often, barangay captains assume these responsibilities with little compensation. Moreover, the danger associated with these functions puts them in a higher risk in terms of insurance coverage. More importantly, the present insurance coverage pursuant to Republic Act No. 8291 covering all government officials is inadequate with regard to the payment of medical, death and burial expenses.

As such, this bill seeks to provide additional insurance benefits to barangay captains over and above what they are currently receiving under the GSIS in recognition of their contribution to the community and as an encouragement for them to honestly continue their public service.
