EXPLANATORY NOTE

AN ACT PROVIDING FOR THE CREATION OF THE DEPARTMENT OF FISHERIES AND COASTAL RESOURCES, DEFINING ITS POWERS AND FUNCTIONS, APPROPRIATING FUNDS THEREFOR, AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES

The Philippines ranks 11th as top fishing nation in the world. The annual fisheries yield in the country is estimated to be worth around Php 115 B (US $ 2.5B) contributing to around 4.3% of gross domestic product.¹

Fishing is considered the next most important livelihood in the agricultural sector providing employment to 1.4 million persons or 3.7 percent of total employment in 2013. Despite this significant contribution, Filipino fishermen were reported the poorest among the basic sectors of the country with 39.2 percent poverty incidence, although this was already a significant improvement from the 41.3 percent recorded in 2009.² For the period 2011-2015, high growth was recorded in all subsectors of the Agriculture and Fisheries Sector except for fisheries due to overfished and overbuilt areas requiring regeneration. Regeneration strategies implemented in fisheries such as closed season for spawning and massive mangrove development have resulted in gains designed for improved incomes.³

To ensure the sustainable development and management of all fisheries, coastal, and marine resources in its archipelagic waters, territorial sea, and exclusive economic zone, this bill proposes the creation of the Department of Fisheries and Coastal Resources (DFCR). The DFCR shall have primary jurisdiction over the conservation, development, exploration, management, policy planning and utilization of all fishery and coastal resources in the country, including the habitats of fish and all other marine life and activities which impact on these marine lives.

The creation of the DFCR will help spur rural development and create opportunities to increase the income of fishermen. It will help the government invest in strategic infrastructure for fisheries, coastal, and marine resources. At the same time, it will enable the government to address problems of pollution, destructive fishing practices, habitat destruction, and climate change. It will sustain the country's continuing efforts to increase food production to meet the demands of a fast, growing population. For these reasons, the immediate passage of this bill is earnestly sought.
