HOUSE BILL NO. 3267

Introduced by Honorable Mark O. Go

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Constitution provides that the State shall afford full protection to labor, local and overseas, organized and unorganized, and to promote full employment and equality of employment opportunities for all.

Cases of violation on the prohibition on labor-only contracting and what is commonly tagged as “5-5-5” or “endo” still exist within the ranks of the labor sector. Circumvention of the prohibition on labor-only contracting were committed despite the provisions of the Labor Code and its implementing rules, DOLE Department Order 18-A and Department Order 174. The situation, however, has been slightly addressed by the Department of Labor with its order for the regularization of employees in some firms.

The practices perpetuated by some contractors have developed a misconception and imputed a bad reputation on the whole manpower service industry as violator of workers’ rights characterized by non-payment of proper wages, benefits and other incentives, and the execution of 5-month end of contract or “ENDO”.

According to Philippine Statistics Authority (PSA), based on the 2015/2016 Integrated Survey on Labor and Employment (ISLE), 54.7 percent of firms or around 17,094 firms of the 31,277 establishments nationwide with at least 20 workers have hired agency workers under service agreements or contracts. Around 691,341 employees or 13.6 percent of the 5,076 million employed workers in June 2016 were agency workers. Most of the agency hired workers came from the manufacturing sector with 691,341 or 13.6% of the total 5,076 million persons engaged by the establishments in June 30, 2016.

In 2016, there is an estimate of 2,000,000 contractor’s employees that covered those contractual workers who are employed under legitimate contractors registered with the Department of Labor and Employmen (DOLE). As per DOLE records, only 1,358 contractors have managed to comply with the requirements of DO 174 as of March 2018.
A study by the Boston Consulting Group reveals that service contracting has helped 61 million workers gain access to the international labor market. Service contracting is a worldwide trend.

The guiding principle of D.O.18-A provides: “Contracting and subcontracting arrangement are expressly allowed by law and are subject to regulations for the promotion of employment and the observance of the rights of workers to just and humane conditions of work, security of tenure, self-organization and collective bargaining.”

It is the intent of this proposed measure to redefine and simplify job contracting and labor-only contracting under the term “outsourcing of work.” Under this bill, outsourcing of work refers to the contracting out of work or service by an employer to a contractor or subcontractor whose employees perform functions and activities which are directly or indirectly related to the principal business of the employer.

This bill seeks to regulate outsourcing of work by providing conditions for its practice and penalties for any violation. It also seeks to resolve recurring problems in the practice of service contracting and to achieve a “win-win” situation for both the employees and employers, being essential components of a progressive economy, and as partners in attaining sustainable growth and development for the country.

This is an opportune time to do what is necessary and to make changes in the light of current global order that will be beneficial for our employees, employers, manpower service contracting industry and the economy.

Hence, immediate consideration and approval of this proposed measure is earnestly sought.
