EXPLANATORY NOTE

Happy and well-rested individuals are healthier and more productive1. In line with this, the bill proposed herein seeks to double the current service leave entitlement of Filipino workers from five (5) days to ten (10) days with pay for every year of service rendered.

Last 17th Congress, the House of Representatives (HOR) already approved on third and final reading the bill increasing the paid incentive leave of employees from five days to 10 days. The HOR unanimously agreed that the bill would benefit the employers as much as it would the employees as the grant of such incentive would boost the morale and satisfaction of employees which shall in turn, manifest in their increased productivity. Leave credits also minimize the risks of health and safety issues among employees which may be even costlier for both employers and employees in the long run. Unfortunately, the 17th Congress adjourned sine die before the same was finalized and enacted into law.

In consideration of the foregoing premises, this Representation humbly seeks the quick passage of this bill for the benefit of our people whose hard work and commitment fuel the national economy.
