HOUSE BILL NO. 4559

Introduced by Honorable Mark O. Go

EXPLANATORY NOTE

In recognizing the indispensable role of local government units in building our nation and in securing socio-economic development that benefits all sectors of the Philippine society, the State through the Constitution, adopted a policy of ensuring local autonomy. Towards this end, the fundamental law mandated the national legislature to enact a local government code that shall provide a more responsive and accountable local government structure instituted through a system of decentralization.

Throughout Philippine history, we sustained a long tradition of centralized governance, as demonstrated in the concentration of economic and political power in the “Imperial Manila” and in the isolated pockets of urbanization and development distributed across the archipelago, such as Baguio, Cebu, Iloilo, and Davao. The enactment of Republic Act No. 7160 or Local Government Code of 1991 sought to grant local government units meaningful autonomy by empowering them through decentralizing the governance and granting local government units increased powers, functions, and resources. The intention behind setting up this framework of governance, is to build the capacities and expand the responsibilities of local actors that they become significant partners of the national government in the development process. However, the uneven scale and pace of local growth among LGUs, continue to be manifest, and inequality in the regional level down to the level of the household continue to persist.

Since the implementation of an institutionalized framework of decentralization, many significant public service functions were devolved to the LGUs, which includes among others agricultural extension and on-site research, community-based forestry projects, field health and hospital services, public works and infrastructure, tourism promotion, investment support, and social welfare services. Likewise, regulatory powers with regards the enforcement of environmental laws, and compliance with regulations on food products, were among other powers, devolved. However, more than 25 years after the enactment of the landmark Local Government Code, the prospect for the many of these devolved functions leaves much room for improvement. In a 2017 ranking of 195 countries, the Philippines ranked 120th in terms of access to and quality of healthcare for the treatment of preventable diseases. Meanwhile, the state of agriculture in the country continues to falter. While the agriculture sector makes up for more than 24% of our country’s total employment, the sector accounted for only 7.1% of the our total GDP in the second quarter of 2019. The system of empowering LGUs is aimed at bringing development to the nation as a whole, to spread growth and leave no sector, province, or community behind. However, regional disparities continued to widen, and the poverty profile of the country has barely changed over the more than two decades of implementation of the law. According to a study conducted by the Philippine Institute for Development Studies, “effective decentralization has not been realized because devolved functions were not complemented by adequate revenue-raising powers, clear division of responsibilities, and bureaucratic capacity building.” Therefore, LGUs continued to face various challenges in the exercise of their devolved service delivery functions because while the responsibilities where transferred to them, they lack the appropriate and adequate capabilities to dispose of these functions, particularly in the implementation of their development programs.

In order to strengthen our system of institutionalized decentralization, and facilitate actual growth and development across the country, it is the proposal of this measure to complement the increase functions and responsibilities of LGUs with a rational and equitable distribution of budget for LGU development.

Towards this end, this bill seeks to establish a Local Equitable Allocation Program (LEAP) and guarantee an equitable appropriation by the National Government of an annual fund sufficient to implement the LGUs’ Comprehensive Development Plan (CDP). This fund shall be known as the Local Assistance Fund (LAF). The bill also mandates the Local Development Councils to conduct an annual review, and if necessary, update and improve their respective CDP. This CDP would be the basis for the allocation of the LAF. In addition, to ensure the proper utilization of the LAF, the Department of Interior and Local Government (DILG) shall conduct an annual performance review of the LGUs’ implementation of their development programs and activities as identified in their CDPs. Unsatisfactory performance of the LGU shall result in the reduction of the LGU’s LDF for the following year by 50%. Furthermore, to better monitor the impact of this measure on the development of LGUs, and to be able to respond adequately and effectively to the changing circumstances of the LGUs relevant to the implementation of this measure, it is proposed that five years from effectivity, the Congress shall conduct a systematic review of the measure.

The budgeting process is in actuality the process of translating the government’s priorities into monetary form. It is high time that we truly prioritize local development and substantiate our policy of empowering LGUs by providing them the proper tools to become drivers of our national growth.

Hence, approval of this bill is earnestly requested.
