EXPLANATORY NOTE

Retirement benefits and pension stand as, in the absence of employment and the income derived from it, the primary source of subsistence for retirees. It is therefore critical that the approval and initial release of such entitlements are executed in a swift and efficient manner, lest we condemn our retirees to a life of dependence or perdition.

Both the Social Security System (SSS) and the Government Service Insurance System (GSIS) should be demanded to fully exercise due diligence in the performance of their mandate. Our retirees, after having served this country and its people, should not have to deal with unnecessary delays to enjoy the hard-earned fruits of their contributions. Granted, that the SSS and GSIS are not always at fault for the delays in the release of such entitlements, this does not excuse them from the many cases wherein due to their own misgivings, even some as minute as a clerical error, our retirees needlessly suffer.

It is therefore the desire of this representation to encourage the optimization of the retirement benefits and pension processes of the SSS and GSIS by imposing a strict 30-day maximum period for the release of the same. Retiring SSS and GSIS members shall also be duly prompted and assisted by these offices 6 months prior to their retirement for the completion of whatever requirements are needed for the immediate release of their retirement benefits and pension.

Believing that we all deserve a peaceful and comfortable retirement, approval of this bill is earnestly sought.
