EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Philippines has produced well known athletes on different sports discipline be it in the amateur and in the professional ranks. Having brought glory to the country, athletes rip the rewards of success carrying national pride.

Encouraging the youth to engage into sports at their early stages of development creates better opportunities of success in the future. It is where the State play an important role in honing not only the skills of the youth but likewise inculcating patriotism and nationalism. The fervor that will burn in their hearts will carry them to succeed in any competition whether locally or internationally which will result in bringing glory to the country. Giving priority to our amateur athletes and homegrown talents, it is the best possible way to ensure that they will showcase their skills and represent the Philippines to the best of their abilities. Athletes should be given proper training during the early stages of their development. It is the best opportune time for the youth to engage into a sporting discipline that best fit their skills. It is the period where their talents and gifts should be properly honed in order to be at par with international athletes.

Accordingly, Section 13 Article II of the Philippine Constitution provides that, “The State recognizes the vital role of the youth in nation-building and shall promote and protect their physical, moral, spiritual, intellectual, and social well-being. It shall inculcate in the youth patriotism and nationalism, and encourage their involvement in public and civic affairs.”

Further, Section 17, of Article II of the Philippine Constitution provides that, “The State shall give priority to education, science and technology, arts, culture, and sports to foster patriotism and nationalism, accelerate social progress, and promote total human liberation and development.”

Succinctly, the progress of an amateur athlete depends on the program that will be introduced by the State through a single governing body. It will mainly focus on youth and sports development in coordination with the Department of Education (DepEd), different Local Government Units (LGU’s), and International Organizations. The department to be created will be mandated to conduct continuous research to keep the Philippines in step with world class athletes. It will stand independent and deviate itself from the delay of progress caused by different approving sporting bodies. As a result, the development of youth athletes will reach higher bounds and create high hopes of success on any future amateur sporting event.
This bill will likely address the common issues encountered by different sports related governing bodies. The creation of the Youth and Sports Department will homogenize leadership and unify the decision-making process. This bill is pro-active and will pursue grassroots development and produce quality youth athletes.

In view of the foregoing, immediate passage of this bill is earnestly sought.
