EXPLANATORY NOTE

Unemployment in the Philippines stood at 5.4% base on the September quarter of 2019, which means that there are two million four hundred thirty two thousand (2,432,000) Filipinos who are in need of employment nowadays.

Unemployment delivers the unemployed to low self-esteem, depression, and anxiety. It brings with it unhappiness, anguish and despair. With the lost of income and the frustration in it, the person may develop negative attitudes toward common things in life and may feel that all sense of purpose is lost.

Yet, the most adverse effect of unemployment is that it breeds poverty. It makes both the unemployed and the nation to suffer fiscally as it does not only deprives the person of the means to support his and that of his family's basic needs, but also obliges the nation or government to deal with the lost of income, decreased production and additional spending for social welfare benefits.

Thus, unemployment is considered to be a serious problem which the government must address to alleviate poverty in the country. Productive work and/or gainful livelihood are the real long-term solutions to poverty. Thus, the poor should be assisted in finding decent work so that they will be able to liberate and lift themselves up from such a depressing condition.

Moreover, having a decent work is the real sustainable way to keep oneself and one's family from material destitution and deprivation. Finally, productive work is one of the ways for individuals and families to achieving a higher standard and better quality of life.

It is the intention of this proposed measure to encourage and assist the poor to seek and secure gainful employment by providing them a Twenty Percent (20%) discount in the payment of fees and charges for certain clearances and certificates issued by some government agencies which are required for pre-employment application.
By reducing some of their financial burdens in the process of finding jobs, the poor would be more active and motivated to find work. The proposed policy will not only benefit the poor, but also the whole economy and the country in the long-term once the poor become gainfully employed and more productive members of Philippine society.

Thus, the immediate enactment of this bill will be a contribution in reducing the incidence of poverty in our country.
