AN ACT REORGANIZING THE COMELEC OFFICES

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Commission on Elections (Comelec) plays a crucial role in nation-building as it safeguards the constitutional right of our citizens to suffrage, to freely choose - through honest, orderly and peaceful elections - those who will represent and govern them.

It is one of the pillars of our democracy and it is an indispensable democratic institution. The 1987 Constitution supplies the poll body's mandate, which is to "Enforce and administer all laws and regulations relative to the conduct of an election, plebiscite, initiative, referendum, and recall," among others, as embodied in Article IX.

And as such, the State needs to ensure that those who work in Comelec are honest, competent and exhibit the highest standards of accountability and public service. Corollary to this principle is the equal protection clause of the Constitution, which states that it is the State's responsibility to provide adequate and appropriate remuneration to employees, with the ultimate goal of achieving equal pay for equal work in government service.

However, there appears to be a wide gap between the mandated responsibilities of Comelec officials and employees, and the amount of compensation they receive in the fulfilment of such duties. They receive lower salaries than their counterparts in other government agencies.

As an example, a Provincial Election Supervisor I tasked to oversee election matters on a provincial level receives a lower salary than a Division Chief in a government agency.
This low level of compensation is also a factor why some Comelec employees are susceptible to the commission of electoral fraud, although it should never be a justification.

This bill aims to revamp the organizational structure of the Comelec in order to address, among others, the disparity in remuneration of its officials and employees to other government workers of equal rank, duties and responsibilities. This reorganization includes Field Offices of the Comelec, and it involves the upgrade and reclassification of plantilla positions.

In view of the foregoing, the approval of this measure is earnestly sought.
