AN ACT
AMENDING REPUBLIC ACT 7309, ENTITLED “AN ACT CREATING A BOARD OF CLAIMS UNDER THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE FOR VICTIMS OF UNJUST IMPRISONMENT OR DETENTION AND VICTIMS OF VIOLENT CRIMES AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES”

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Sec. 1, Article III of the 1987 Constitution states that “No Person shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law.” Persons have been accused and imprisoned for crimes they did not commit, only to be subsequently acquitted.

The International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR), Article 14 paragraph 6 also provides that “When a person has by a final decision been convicted of a criminal offence and when subsequently his conviction has been reversed or he has been pardoned on the ground that a new or newly discovered fact shows conclusively that there has been a miscarriage of justice, the person who has suffered punishment as a result of such conviction shall be compensated according to law, unless it is proved that the nondisclosure of the unknown fact in time is wholly or partly attributable to him.”

In the Philippines, victims of unjust imprisonment or detention and victims of violent crimes may claim their compensation through Republic Act No. 7309 enacted on March 30, 1992. This law also includes a person that has been unjustly detained and released without being charged; a person who is a victim of arbitrary detention by the authorities as defined in the Revised Penal Code under a final judgment of the court; or a person who is a victim of a violent crime which includes rape and offenses committed with malice which resulted in death or serious physical and/or psychological injuries, permanent incapacity or disability, insanity, abortion, serious trauma, or committed with torture, cruelty or barbarity.

However, R.A. 7309 has not been amended since its passage. The amount provided in the law is not relevant considering the present economic conditions. Moreover, the process of claiming the compensation is slow and tedious. Effectively, it will discourage claimants from applying for compensation and getting paid for the injury that it sustained as a result of injustice committed upon them. This is apparent in the statistics provided by the Board of Claims. From a total amount of approved claims of ₱18,665,000.00 in 2018, it dropped significantly to ₱7,805,000.00 as of September 2019\(^1\).

There is therefore an evident need for an amendatory law to be passed in order to adjust the amounts of compensation and to improve the process of approval.

In view of the foregoing, approval of this bill is earnestly sought.
