Republic of the Philippines
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Quezon City

EIGHTEENTH CONGRESS
First Regular Session

- 5710
House Bill No.

INTRODUCED BY HONORABLE LIANDA B. BOLILIA

EXPLANATORY NOTE

After more than a decade of enacting Republic Act 9372 otherwise known as the “Human Security Act of 2007”, the Philippines is an emerging hot spot of terrorism. According to the 2018 Global Terrorism Index, the Philippines is in the 10th place among 163 countries most affected by terrorism. It is the lone Southeast Asian country to rank, together with Afghanistan, Nigeria, Syria, Pakistan, Somalia, India, Yemen, and Egypt.

According to the report, 326 died from terrorism in the country in 2017. The communist New People’s Army (NPA) is responsible for 35% of these deaths, while the Abu Sayyaf is responsible for 37 deaths, and the Maute Group responsible for 26.¹

This proves that the current law is weak against terrorism. The law itself has more provisions limiting the law enforcement agencies to prevent and address terrorism than preventing terrorist individual, organization, or group of persons from destroying the very fabric of our society.

The law only produced one conviction from terrorism charges and a court declaration branding the Abu Sayyaf as a terrorist group, which took five years of proceedings. In the case of the Communist Party of the Philippines-New People’s Army (CPP-NPA), tagged by the United States, European Union, Canada, Great Britain, and Australia as a foreign terrorist organization, and proclaimed by President Rodrigo Duterte as a terrorist organization in 2017, there is no judicial affirmation issued yet.

The 2017 siege of Marawi City by the Maute Group proved that the current provisions of RA 9372 constrained the law enforcement agencies from going after terror suspects. Aside from the three days of allowed warrantless detention, the AFP and the PNP have to pay ₱500,000.00 in damages for every day they detained a suspect who ends up acquitted of terror charges.

Over the past year, there were three instances of suicide bombings in parts of Mindanao. The deadly June 28 attack on an army camp in Indanan, Sulu, was the first case of a suicide bombing by a Filipino confirmed by the police and military.

The law currently allows the detention of terror suspects without an arrest warrant from a judicial court for up to 3 days. In Singapore and Malaysia, suspected terrorists can be detained for 30 days without a case. Moreover, the law enforcement agencies may only obtain authorization to surveil, intercept, and record or wiretap suspects’ communications from the Court of Appeals.

Thus, this measure seeks to amend Republic Act 9372. The salient features of the bill are as follows:

2. Addition of a new section to define terms used in the proposed measure.
3. Addition of three predicate crimes to the existing twelve (12) on the definition of terrorism, namely:
   a. Republic Act No. 9208 (Anti-Trafficking in Persons Act of 2003, as amended);
   b. Republic Act No. 9165 (Comprehensive Dangerous Drugs Act of 2002); and
4. Inclusion of additional punishable acts, together with the Conspiracy to Commit Terrorism, i.e. Proposal to Commit Terrorism, Inciting to Terrorism, Recruitment to Terrorist Organization, Providing Material Support to Terrorists or Terrorist Organizations, Foreign Terrorist Fighter, and Glorification of Terrorism.
5. The fixed penalty of “forty years of imprisonment” has been changed to “life imprisonment to death”.
6. Addition of five (5) relevant cabinet secretaries to the existing composition of seven (7) members of Anti-Terrorism Council (ATC) to expand of governmental involvement in the fight against terrorism. They are the Secretaries of Information and Communication Technology, Transportation, Labor and Employment, and Education.
7. The swift issuance by the court of Preliminary Asset Preservation Order which is twenty four (24) hours and its effectivity of six (6) months. The longer period will give the law enforcement agencies ample time to gather more pieces of evidence to support final order of forfeiture and proscription.
8. Gives the Secretary of Justice the power to compel telecom and internet providers to preserve and produce all customer information and identification records as well as call and text data record and other cellular or internet metadata in cases of actual or imminent terrorist attacks.
9. Adds the Regional Trial Court for Judicial Authorization, thereby giving more access to the courts by law enforcers which shall facilitate securing of documents.
10. A provision on the arrest of unwilling witnesses that causes delay in building the case against the terrorists is included. The extension of detention without judicial warrant is likewise extended to thirty (30) days from three (3) days.
11. Increase in the period for change of custody of intercepted and recorded material from forty-eight (48) hours to ten (10) days to allow more time for law enforcers to gather evidence.
12. Inclusion of the provisions regarding Order of Proscription, Asset Preservation Orders and Request to Proscribe a Terrorist with Foreign Jurisdiction and Supra-National Jurisdiction.
13. Institutionalization of the Anti-Terrorism Council-Program Management Center as Administrative arm of ATC maintaining its current functions.

In view of the foregoing, the immediate enactment and approval of this bill is earnestly sought.
