House Bill No. 5714

Introducing by HON. FRANCISCO G. DATOL, JR.,

EXPLANATORY NOTE

This bill aims to provide for the annual automatic adjustment of the pensions of retirees from the Philippine Government who are members of the GSIS, by linking their pensions to the annual inflation rate or movement of the CPI issued by the Philippine Statistics Authority (PSA).

It is known fact that the monthly retirement pensions of member of the Government Service Insurance System (GSIS) are lifetime benefits computed as of the date of their retirement. The real value of the pensions, as reflected in the actual goods and services that their recipients are able to purchase, however, shrinks as the cost of living rises over the years. As the rise in living costs continues, the purchasing power of the pensions on which large numbers of persons depend for their basic needs is progressively and ultimately severely eroded.

Adjustments in pensions of retirees may be made by the GSIS upon approval by the President in accordance with Republic Act No. 9291 (GSIS Charter). Such adjustments included those made in 2010, amounting to 1.5%; then in 2013, amounting to P5,000.00 for those receiving a monthly pension of less than P5,000.00, and P 200.00 for those getting a monthly pension of more than P 5,000.00 but less than P 8,000.00; and lastly, in 2015, amounting to a one-time benefit equivalent to a one-month month pension but not exceeding P 12,600.00 for those whose 2014 cash gift was more than P 10,000.00, and a one month pension but not exceeding P 10,000.00 for those whose 2014 cash gift was more than P 5,000.00 but less than P 8,000.00.

While these adjustments alleviated the plight of the pensioners, they are not regular and predictable, being subject to the approval of the GSIS Board. But even if this would be approved, still the rates of these adjustment lag far behind the actual rates of inflation, which averaged 4 percent per year over the last 15 years. Further, the adjusted pensions of the retirees are much less than the monthly compensation of active employees occupying comparable positions in government service.

To illustrate, a typical public-school teacher who retired fifteen (15) years ago received a monthly pension of less than P9,000.00, which is barely enough to cover the minimum family income required for basic sustenance of the P 8,800.00 per month. The pension of that teacher is only about 49% of the P18,549 monthly salary of an incumbent teacher.

In the United States of America, the Federal Government and several State Governments grant their retired public employees Cost of Living Adjustments (COLA) which are usually linked to Consumer Price Indices (CPIs) or are fixed percentages of the monthly pensions. Eight (8) European Countries – Denmark, Luxembourg, France, Belgium, Finland, the Netherlands, and Sweden – including Israel and Chile, have similar schemes of automatic adjustments of age-old pensions.

The bill will greatly help the retirees make their hard-earned pensions cope with the increasing cost of living for the remaining years of their life. About 280,000 GSIS pensioners, as well as many more in the future, together with their families, stand to benefit from the enactment of this bill. With the total amount of GSIS pensions estimated at about P 50 Billion for the year 2017, the incremental amount needed to cover the adjustments under this bill is initially about P 2 Billion a year. Funds to cover the adjustments of the retirement pensions will be derived from the GSIS, given its robust financial standing.

In view of the foregoing, the passage of the bill is earnestly sought.
