HOUSE BILL NO. 5836

Introduced by: “KUYA” JOSE ANTONIO R. SY-ALVARADO

AN ACT AMENDING SECTION 57 OF REPUBLIC ACT NO. 8754, OTHERWISE KNOWN AS THE CHARTER CITY OF MALOLOS

EXPLICATORY NOTE

This bill seeks to establish a lone congressional district for the City of Malolos. It intends to address the growing necessity of the historic city and urgently respond to the challenge and complexity of its growth and development.

Having grown to be a busy and bustling key component city of the province of Bulacan, it is high time for the provincial capital to have its own representation in Congress separate and distinct from the first congressional district of the province. The City of Malolos has now over 250,000 residents. It has greatly progressed and developed, and its economy blossomed into industries ranging from agriculture to light-medium industrial.

In due recognition of the significance and historic role of the City of Malolos in its contribution to our nation building and statehood, the prominence of our forefathers’ struggle against imperial colonizers, Malolos now more than ever must be granted legislative imprimatur for the creation of its own congressional representation.

During the early years of our republic, then President Emilio Aguinaldo declared Malolos as the capital of the Philippines, the single most momentous act signifying the start of our indigenous government and state capacity. The single most important accomplishment of the new Philippine Republic was the convening, drafting and promulgating of what was to be known as the Malolos Constitution, thus setting with the strength of legal mandate of our country as the very first democratic and republican state in Asia.

The city’s cultural and historical heritage crafted its own growth and development. In full service to its roots, Malolos gracefully transformed and evolved from a simple town into a full-fledged city. Republic Act No. 8754, otherwise known as an act initiating the conversion of the Municipality of Malolos into a component city, the City of Malolos ushered in new life to its people and society. Opportunities and advancements were made and a new, vibrant and progressive Malolos was born. The City government prides itself with its readiness to meet the needs of the new Malolos with efforts focused on the delivery of adequate and essential services catered for social welfare, business and industrial growth, public utilities and responsive governance. Comes now 2019, the city with over 252,000 inhabitants is now more than ever ready, willing and able to undertake a new phase in its development having its own congressional district.

Representation in Congress is indispensable in ensuring continued and sustainable growth and development of the City. Being a major contributor to our heritage, our economy and our national pride, by these the City deserves to have a voice in our national government. Add to this the needs parallel to its growth: health and nutrition, availability and access to basic social services, the right to free primary and secondary education and access to quality tertiary education, housing and urban facilities, public peace and security, disaster preparedness, job opportunities and provision for conductive business environment. The city must keep pace to the demands of a modern metropolis. Having its own representative in Congress is not just a right; it is a demand for the city’s survival.

Our Constitution is clear and unambiguous, “Each legislative district shall comprise, as far as practicable, contiguous, compact and adjacent territory. Each city with a population of at least two hundred fifty thousand, or each province, shall have at least one representative.” Way back the year 2008, the National Statistics Office has issued a certification that the projected population of the City of Malolos may reach more than 250,000 for the year 2010. Based on the 2015 Census of Population released by the Philippine Statistics Authority, the population of the City of Malolos is already 252,074.

If I may now call my colleagues in the House of Representatives to give their full support and backing in defending the constitutional rights of our people and assert our right and constitutional power as a collective body, as the Philippine legislature, to be accorded respect as to our determination of facts, grant the power of legislative act to this bill. A separate congressional district for the city, in fulfillment of their constitutional right and social justice and equity, sustain and continue its own growth and development. The historic town deserves its renaissance. Our democracy and republic owe it to the city, the home of our independence and political self-domination, to ensure that it too be granted a voice amidst our national political arena.

In view of the foregoing, the approval of this bill is earnestly sought.
