AN ACT INCREASING HONORARIIUM AND CHRISTMAS INCENTIVES OF BARANGAY OFFICIALS, INCLUDING BARANGAY TANODS, MEMBERS OF THE LUHON NG TAGAPAMAYAPA AMONG OTHERS, AND GRANTING OTHER NON-MONETARY BENEFITS, AMENDING FOR THE PURPOSE SECTION 393 OF REPUBLIC ACT NO. 7160, AS AMENDED, OTHERWISE KNOWN AS THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT CODE OF 1991

Explanatory Note

Republic Act No. 7160, otherwise known as the Local Government Code, was enacted into law in 1991. This provided for a more responsive and accountable local government structure instituted through a system of decentralization since local government units were given more powers, authority, responsibilities, and resources. The system allowed the transfer of control and responsibility of delivering basic services to local government units (LGU). The law also mandated the jurisdiction, organization, and maintenance of the barangay. While the barangay is the smallest local government unit, it has a wide range of concerns and problems that must be managed by their respective officials.

However, barangay officials and workers do not enjoy much benefits from their services despite toiling against serious issues in their locale. They are rarely able to have enough savings. With the workload given to them, it is unlikely that these government workers have other jobs while serving as barangay officials. It is also possible that they left their paying jobs in order to give their time and effort to public service. With the high cost living, government workers still receive small compensation and honoraria that don’t reflect the current economic needs. At the same time, benefits such as medical insurance are inadequate.

With the President’s order to grant three thousand pesos (P3,000.00) as Christmas incentives to elected barangay officials, such as barangay captains, kagawads, Sangguniang Kabataan (SK) chairpersons, and Indigenous People’s Mandatory Representatives (IPMR), it is only apt to revise the core law that provides for the needs of barangay workers who give service to their communities. The propose measure seeks to incorporate current realities to the existing law. Moreover, this bill also provides for other barangay officials and staff that work hand in hand to effectively maintain and protect barangays. Thus, this measure recognizes the contribution of barangay officials and workers to the holistic and effective governance in the country.

The state must ensure the welfare of the public. To this end, the state shall pursue a policy that increases honorarium and Christmas incentives of barangay officials, including barangay tanods, and members of the lupon ng tagapamayapa among others, and granting other non-monetary benefits, amending for the purpose Section 393 of Republic Act No. 7160, as amended, otherwise known as the Local Government Code of 1991.

The passage of this measure is earnestly sought.
