EXPLANATORY NOTE

Senior Citizens are one of the most economically vulnerable demographic in the Philippines. According to studies, our senior citizens become more economically vulnerable as they age since they are less likely to find or have employment while their medical expenses continue to pile up due to ill health, disability or increasing family responsibilities.\(^1\) Moreover, out of the projected 8.8% of the Philippine population which will comprise of senior citizens, studies suggest that only twenty percent (20%) of them will benefit from retirement/old age pensions.\(^2\) Meanwhile, only three million seven hundred ninety-six thousand seven hundred ninety-one (3,796,791) of indigent senior citizens will be covered by the existing government social pension program.\(^3\) Thus, under the existing measures, almost fifty-five percent (55%) of the senior citizens will receive no pension at all.\(^4\) Therefore our current measures are clearly inadequate to protect our vulnerable senior citizens since it leaves millions of them outside the protection of our government. Moreover, even for the senior citizens who are already receiving pension, the continuously rising cost of living in the Philippines which, not including rent, is now estimated to be around Twenty-six thousand eight hundred forty-nine pesos (Php 26,849) necessitates the need to augment the funds available to them for their daily expenses.\(^5\) Without the proposed measure, millions of senior citizens, regardless of indigency or not, will be placed at a high risk of economic insecurity and resulting poverty.

The resulting plight of our senior citizens run contrary to the 1987 Philippine Constitution which mandates that the State has a duty to care for its elderly members through programs of social security\(^6\) and the its policy under existing laws which emphasizes its mandate to reaffirm the valued Filipino tradition of caring for the senior citizens and foster their capacity to attain more meaningful and productive ageing.\(^7\)

Thus, this bill seeks to provide all senior citizens with the economic security they deserve and secure their welfare as mandated by the Philippines Constitution and other relevant laws by providing a five hundred (Php 500.00) monthly social pension to all senior citizens, without any distinctions.

In view of this, passage of the bill is sought.
