Eighteenth Congress
First Regular Session

HOUSE BILL NO. 7064

Introduced by Hon. Deogracias Victor “DV” B. Savellano

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The 1987 Constitution provides that, all educational institutions shall include the study of the Constitution as part of the curricula. Accordingly, the state shall inculcate patriotism and nationalism, foster love of humanity, respect for human rights, appreciation of the role of national heroes in the historical development of the country, teach the rights and duties of citizenship, strengthen ethical and spiritual values, develop moral character and personal discipline, encourage critical and creative thinking, broaden scientific and technological knowledge, and promote vocational efficiency.

Relevant to this act is Sec 3 Article IV of the Constitution which provides that, Science and Technology are essential for national development and progress. The state shall give priority to research and development, invention, innovation, and their utilization; and to science and technology education, training, and services. It shall support indigenous, appropriate, and self-reliant scientific and technological capabilities, and their application to the country’s productive systems and national life.

Given the technological advancements developing around the world, youth nowadays are more preoccupied in senseless activities tending to either boost their notoriety, aiming to improve their respective self-gratifications, in social applications or communicate with others with the sole purpose of creating non-platonic relationships, which distance them to more important things like, the sense of patriotism.

If this situation continues, our nation will shortly be devasted. So we must try to develop sense of patriotism in our children.

Through unity and homogeneity of the citizens of the nation, integrity of the nation is ensured. Today’s children are the citizens of tomorrow. So it is necessary to develop extreme patriotism amongst children right from early days. Otherwise they cannot develop sense of making sacrifice for the welfare of society and nation when they grow up.
In fact the sense of patriotism should have been created in children from the study of history, but unfortunately our educational system is quantity oriented instead of quality based. The children are evaluated on the basis of marks they score in examination, so the students only pay attention to scoring more marks. The students learn history only to get good marks. This outlook needs to be changed urgently. History should be learnt not only to get good marks but also to develop patriotism. The parents and teachers should imbibe the same outlook then only they can change way of thinking of children. If our next generation doesn’t have any affection towards our nation, then we will be doomed soon. If nation survives, our society will survive, and then only I will be alive. This feeling must be inculcated in the minds of children.

Review of students should be taken to find out if they develop sense of patriotism by studying history. For example, study of the sacrifices made by freedom fighters to achieve freedom and then how do they feel if they see our national flag strewn on the ground on Independence Day. Such questions need to be asked to them regularly to stop disrespect being shown to for our national flag. They should be encouraged to view such movies which will develop love and respect for our nation.

The passage of this bill intends to impart the correct outlook to children on the mental and intellectual levels with respect to the culture and tradition of the Philippines.

With the advancement of technology, the state should utilize its causes and effects to inculcate and rekindle the Filipinos’ love and affection to their country. By tapping social mechanisms, created by the rise of Facebook empire, that administer the popularize our cultural diversity and tradition.

Considering the numerous and endless use of mass media, social applications, including the various industries which utilizes the same, the penetration of the aforementioned avenues is indispensable for the popularization of our culture and tradition. Without mandatory integrated approaches designed to direct the people, particularly the youth, to the road to patriotism such as this proposed bill, our nation will be akin to a valueless empty shell occupied by

In view of the foregoing, the passage of this bill is earnestly sought.
