EXPLANATORY NOTE

The province of Isabela was named in honor of “Her Royal Highness Queen Isabela II” of Spain. Isabela is the second largest province of the Philippines and the largest in Luzon in terms of land area. Also, the province is known as the “Rice and Corn Granary of Luzon,” and is considered the trade and industrial center of Northeastern Luzon. However, a lot of work still needs to be done to develop accessibility to eco-tourism sites in the whole province.

Occupying the central section of the Cagayan Valley region in Luzon, Isabela is bordered by Cagayan to the north, Kalinga to the northwest, Mountain Province to the central-west, Ifugao and Nueva Vizcaya to the southwest, and Quirino and Aurora to the south. To the east lies the Philippine Sea, making the province one of the most typhoon-prone provinces in the country.

Isabela is home to Magat High Rise Dam and Tourism Complex known to be the highest and biggest dam in Asia at the time of its construction. The province of Isabela comprises an aggregate land area of 10,665 square kilometers, representing almost 40 percent of the regional territory.

Tourism is an important sector for Philippine economy. The tourism industry around the globe is expanding rapidly and the trends are extremely changing. The tourism industry has a potential to stimulate the economy and accelerate the growth of the local communities. Both local and international, tourism plays a vital role in generating employment opportunities and result in revenue generation for the tourist destinations.

This bill seeks to declare identify various Tourism Development Areas in the Province of Isabela and the creation of Isabela Tourism Council. This will pave the way for the formulation of a Tourism Development Plan for the Province and its incorporation into the Department of Tourism’s National Tourism Development Plan and the development of support facilities and infrastructure that will greatly enhance the Province’s tourism sector, boost the provincial economy and improve the quality of life of its residents.

With the assistance of the Department of Tourism, the province of Isabela will be given a chance to achieve its maximum potential as an attractive and viable tourism destination.

In view of the foregoing, the immediate passage of this bill is earnestly sought.
