Eighteenth Congress
Second Regular Session

HOUSE BILL NO. 7426

Introduced by Honorable Mark O. Go

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Republic Act 6728 and its expanded coverage through Republic Act 8545 were enacted to provide government assistance to students and teachers in private education in recognition of the government’s constitutional mandate to maintain a system of grants, subsidies, and incentives to students not only in public but in private learning institutions as well.

As the State endeavors to fulfill its constitutional mandate to protect and promote the right of all citizens to quality education at all levels, and to ensure that such is accessible to all, it is high time to amend the more than two-decade old RA 8545 to cover students of private schools at the elementary level. At present, RA 8545 or the E-GASTPE Law grants tuition fee supplements only to students in private junior and senior high schools. Likewise, only teachers in private junior and senior high schools are benefited from the Teacher’s Salary Subsidy Fund created in the said law. Meanwhile, underprivileged students and teachers in private elementary schools are left insecure without the privileges enjoyed by their high school counterparts.

The ongoing COVID19 pandemic has gravely affected the most vulnerable members of our population and the pandemic’s direct blow is manifestly felt by the country’s education sector. At the close of enrollment last July 15, 2020, The Department of Education (DepEd) recorded a significant plunge of about seven million students in basic education enrollment. Of the over 27.7 million private and public school students, only 20.7 million have actually enrolled for the upcoming academic calendar. Of these enrollees, only a little over a million registered in private schools. This year’s private school enrollment is found to be only 25.3% of last year’s figure. Furthermore, DepEd data also revealed that 328,862 students have transferred from private to public schools. These figures show that without the necessary government support, many private school students are forced to either transfer to public schools or to drop out of school in order to cope with the ongoing pandemic.

Enrollment dropout and exodus to public schools are challenges faced by private schools long before the pandemic, but are now palpably exacerbated by our present predicament. Private learning institutions play a significant role in nation building by partnering with public schools in shaping the country’s future through the students.
Furthermore, the operation of private schools directly contributes in decongesting public schools and stimulating the economy. In multiple states, policies that either mandate or incentive class-size reduction have been promulgated, in pursuit of creating environments more conducive to learning, and reducing the burden on their teachers. By helping students to continue in their private school education, and granting public school students the option to transfer to private schools, the government can address the problems brought about by unregulated public school class sizes. Several studies have shown that maintaining smaller class sizes is an effective strategy in producing better academic outcomes for students and closing socioeconomically based achievement gaps.

In addition, the mounting financial burden due to the prolonged suspension of classes and the loss of revenues due to the recent mass exodus of students to public schools, threaten the continuous operation of many private schools. By expanding the grant of subsidies to cover private elementary school students, the government can prevent the imminent shutdown of private school enterprises which are active participants in the country’s economic productivity and providers of gainful employment to teaching and non-teaching personnel and other service providers.

It is the State’s responsibility to create a safety net for students who have fallen through the cracks in the country’s education system. This bill seeks to address a gap in the system that has been exposed by the COVID19 pandemic. By amending RA 8545 to cover private school elementary students in the grant of subsidies, and to subsidize private elementary school teachers under the Teachers’ Salary Subsidy Fund, the State takes a giant leap forward in ensuring the quality and accessibility of education in the Philippines at all levels.

In view of the foregoing, the immediate consideration and approval of this measure is earnestly sought.
