EXPLANATORY NOTE

Chemical weapons are lethal misapplications of scientific endeavour and scarce resources, and the use thereof constitutes a crime against humanity. In the past, these instruments of nations’ arsenals have produced devastating and indiscriminate casualties among warring states. In the modern society, their use, especially by non-state actors such as terrorists, is of deepening concern among political leaders. This time, terrorists, not rogue nations, pose as a greater chemical weapon threat. The accessibility, proven attack method, and the added value of the psychological impact of chemical weapons on societies and governments make their use desirable in the eyes of terrorists. This is true among extremists motivated by ideology and groups who simply intend to sow fear for the purpose of causing significant social and economic disruption.

Hence, the adoption of a Chemical Weapons Convention to provide the legal framework for defending society against chemical terrorism, for maintaining the peaceful and meaningful utilization of chemistry, and for creating a treaty regime ensuring that governments from different states fulfil the national obligation of implementing chemical disarmament and non-proliferation.

After 12 years of negotiations, the Chemical Weapons Convention was adopted by the Conference on Disarmament in Geneva on 3 September 1992, opened for signature in Paris on 13 January 1993, and entered into force on 29 April 1997 to outlaw the production, stockpiling, and use of chemical weapons. The Convention is the first disarmament agreement negotiated within a multilateral framework that provides for the elimination of an entire category of weapons of mass destruction under universally applied international control. The Convention establishes an international norm against the development of chemical weapons for all time, and provides the legal and political basis for firm action against those who violate its rules.

This measure is being put forward with the end in view of providing the Philippine Government with an enabling legislative framework required to fulfil its obligations under the Convention where the country is a signatory. The country signed the Convention on 13 January 1993, ratified the same on 21 February 1995 with the Philippine Senate thereafter adopting a resolution to signify its concurrence on 19 August 1996. Under this measure, a Philippine National Authority for the Chemical Weapons Convention is established to serve as the national coordinating body for effective liaison with the Organization for the Prohibition of Chemical Weapons (OPCW) and other State Parties to the Convention, and shall be the lead agency in the implementation of the provisions of the Convention.

In view of the foregoing, immediate enactment of this measure is earnestly sought.

Guidelines for Schedule 1

1. The following criteria shall be taken into account in considering whether a toxic chemical or precursor should be included in Schedule 1:

(a) It has been developed, produced, stockpiled or used as a chemical weapon as defined in Article II;

(b) It poses otherwise a high risk to the object and purpose of this Convention by virtue of its high potential for use in activities prohibited under this Convention because one or more of the following conditions are met:

(i) It possesses a chemical structure closely related to that of other toxic chemicals listed in Schedule 1, and has, or can be expected to have, comparable properties;

(ii) It possesses such lethal or incapacitating toxicity as well as other properties that would enable it to be used as a chemical weapon;

(iii) It may be used as a precursor in the final single technological stage of production of a toxic chemical listed in Schedule 1, regardless of whether this stage takes place in facilities, in munitions or elsewhere;

(c) It has little or no use for purposes not prohibited under this Convention.

Guidelines for Schedule 2

2. The following criteria shall be taken into account in considering whether a toxic chemical not listed in Schedule 1 or a precursor to a Schedule 1 chemical or to a chemical listed in Schedule 2, part A, should be included in Schedule 2:
(a) It poses a significant risk to the object and purpose of this Convention because it possesses such lethal or incapacitating toxicity as well as other properties that could enable it to be used as a chemical weapon;

(b) It may be used as a precursor in one of the chemical reactions at the final stage of formation of a chemical listed in Schedule 1 or Schedule 2, part A;

(c) It poses a significant risk to the object and purpose of this Convention by virtue of its importance in the production of a chemical listed in Schedule 1 or Schedule 2, part A;

(d) It is not produced in large commercial quantities for purposes not prohibited under this Convention.

Guidelines for Schedule 3

3. The following criteria shall be taken into account in considering whether a toxic chemical or precursor, not listed in other Schedules, should be included in Schedule 3:

(a) It has been produced, stockpiled or used as a chemical weapon;

(b) It poses otherwise a risk to the object and purpose of this Convention because it possesses such lethal or incapacitating toxicity as well as other properties that might enable it to be used as a chemical weapon;

(c) It poses a risk to the object and purpose of this Convention by virtue of its importance in the production of one or more chemicals listed in Schedule 1 or Schedule 2, part B;

(d) It may be produced in large commercial quantities for purposes not prohibited under this Convention.
