She however underscored that the Seventeenth Congress must ensure that such laws are effectively implemented. Likewise, she said that it should pass other measures to achieve genuine equality and empowerment for women such as House Bill No. 4113, increasing the maternity leave period for female workers; House Bill No. 5156, ensuring the fundamental equality of men and women under the laws on marriage and family relations; and House Bills No. 218 and 759, both defining and penalizing the crime of sexual infidelity.

In the Philippines, she clarified, this has meant nothing short of redefining what being a strong Filipina means – not just subservient but capable of critical thinking; not just reserved but articulate and confident; and not only nurturing but tenacious and passionate as well.

Thereupon, Representative Enverga stressed that women need not deny their femininity in order to continue to push for equality and a meaningful agenda for their sector inasmuch as femininity and strength are not mutually exclusive.
