

Republic of the Philippines
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

EIGHTEENTH CONGRESS
First Regular Session
HOUSE BILL NO. 1756

Introduced by HON. LUIS RAYMUND "LRAY" F. VILLAFUERTE, JR.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

An alcohol-exposed pregnancy is risky for both unborn babies and their mothers, and could permanently compromise the central nervous system of a developing baby. Drinking alcohol during pregnancy can cause Fetal Alcohol Syndrome (FAS) and has been proven to increase the risk of miscarriage, stillbirth, prematurity or even sudden infant death¹.

Improving maternal health and reducing child mortality has been a priority in the Philippine health system. This commitment is manifested in the country's legislation such as the "Early Childhood Care and Development (ECCD) Law of 2001" and the "Barangay Level Total Protect of Children Act of 1990", as well as current lobbying efforts in Congress such as the First 1,000 Days bill. The Department of Health has in turn translated this commitment to mothers and children with programs such as the "Safe Motherhood Program" which provides maternal and newborn health services.

This bill intends to add to the efforts the country has demonstrated in protecting the welfare of our mothers and children. It proposes to require any alcoholic beverage for sale to include a clear, conspicuous, and easily readable warning on the packaging or in the business establishment selling these goods about the risks an alcohol-exposed pregnancy and FAS poses to unborn children and their mothers. A penalty of Php 10,000.00 shall be imposed on those who violate this Act.

The approval of this bill is earnestly sought.

LUIS RAYMUND "LRAY" F. VILLAFUERTE, JR.
